No Major Bills on Docket for Either House or Senate, but No Date Seen for Session's End

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress' snail-paced drive for adjournment slowed down today to almost a complete halt. There was no business at all on the House docket because of the death of one of its members, Rep. C. Miller, California Democrat killed in an airplane mishap. Neither was there anything of consequence on the calendar of the White House action on another bill holding up the go-home signal. It calls for a tax break for self-employed people who set up their own retirement programs. The bill becomes law at midnight Wednesday night if President Kennedy does not act on it.

Congress Spent Too Much Money, Proxmire Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said today the present session of Congress has been reasonably successful but it has spent too much money. Passage of the trade bill giving the President more power over tariffs, Proxmire said, was an historic achievement. He said other sound legislative passed by this Congress included the Area Redevelopment Act and the program for manpower training. But deficit spending in these times is bad business in Proxmire's view. He opposed the administration on the size of many of the money bills and unsuccessfully proposed amendments to reduce spending on defense, foreign aid, space and various domestic programs. "There is no question in my mind that we should balance the budget when we are not in a recession, when we are not at war, and when profits are at record highs," Proxmire said. Proxmire said deficit spending in the fiscal year ended last June 30 was some $6 billion and the prospects for the current fiscal year are for $3 to $4 billion or more in deficit spending.

Senate, which sent the annual foreign aid appropriation bill to the President Monday.

There was a possibility that the Senate might seize upon a relatively minor House-passed bill as the vehicle for a four-month extension of unemployment compensation payments to workers who have used up their benefits. The House Ways and Means Committee has refused to approve a separate bill authorizing the extension.

No progress was in sight for several appropriation bills which must be acted on before adjournment, nor was there any sign of

Lutheran Bishop Who Fought Nazis Dies in Norway

TRONDHEIM, Norway (AP)—American-born Bishop Arne Fjellbu, 71, a leader in the Lutheran Church's opposition to the Nazi occupation of Norway, died Monday after a short illness. A liberal cleric, he caused a controversy in the church by performing the marriage ceremony in 1941 for Princess Astrid, daughter of King Olav V, and a divorced commoner. The bishop was a close friend of the royal family and had given the ecclesiastical blessing which took the place of a coronation when King Olav ascended the throne in 1958. Bishop Fjellbu was born in Iowa but his father sent him to Norway in his early teens to be educated. He took a theology degree at Oslo University in 1914 and then studied in Berlin and Heidelberg. He served as a Lutheran minister in Berlin in 1916. When World War II started he was canon of the medieval Nidaros Cathedral in Trondheim.

'Truth Squad' Gets Mixed Up, Roughed Up

GOP Aide Complains That Someone Had 'Stepped on Toes'

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A so-called Republican "truth squad" has been set on the campaign trail of Gaylord Nelson and on its first day became involved in a pushing incident and once beat the Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate to one of his stops.

Richard Brautigam, an aide from the GOP headquarters at Madison, said he was shoved Monday by a man who stepped on his toes after the three-man team had followed Nelson to the gate of the Waukesha Motor Co. in Waukesha. Brautigam said he did not file a complaint with police.

The squad was waiting in Landon when Nelson arrived and asked which man had been "roughed up." When told it was Brautigam, Nelson said, "Oh, I'm sorry!"

No Comment Nelson would make no further comment on the incident, saying he had not seen it. He had this to say about the "truth squad": "I'm happy to have the truth squashed with me. It gives a delightful spark to the campaign. Furthermore, it makes me look good by contrast. I plan to furnish them with my schedule so they can be with me anytime that suits their fancy."

The squad was ordered into action by Claude Jasper of Madison, the state GOP chairman, who said Nelson was making charges against the Republican candidate, Sen. Alexander Wiley. Plans for President Kennedy to visit Wisconsin this month to campaign for Nelson and John Reynolds, the Democratic candidate for governor, were announced Monday.

Plans Visit Nelson told of the impending visit by making public a copy of a letter from the President. Reynolds told of the trip at a press conference.

William Fairfield, the governor's secretary, said in Madison. "The President is particularly concerned with Nelson's election, to the Senate, but he is also concerned with Reynolds' election as governor."

Fairfield said details of the Kennedy schedule have not been completed.

Launching Pad Ready For Saturn Rocket

BARTOW, Fla. (AP)—Frank Murphy and Associates, Bartow steel fabricating firm, announced it has completed a launching pad for the Saturn rocket, this nation's largest. The pad awaits inspection and transportation piecemeal to Cape Canaveral.

The firm has been working since June on a $750,000 contract to build the pad and a service tower. The tower already has been delivered.

The company said two million pounds of steel went into the project.

Birth of Uganda Has Dixieland Flavor

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP)—Independence ceremonies celebrating the birth of Uganda as a nation today had a Dixieland flavor. Dance music included "When the Saints Go Marching In" and "Swanee." "St. Louis Blues," listed on the program, was dropped without explanation.

Billy Graham Ends Crusade in South America

Evangelist Calls His Visit to Brazil 'Most Successful'

Chicago Daily News Service

SAO PAULO, Brazil — The Rev. Dr. Billy Graham has just concluded here "The most successful crusade I have undertaken so far in Latin America."

"This has been a most wonderful experience," he commented in reviewing the six-day period, in which he addressed from 20,000 to 40,000 each night in the largest football stadium in Brazil's largest city.

The setting for the revivals had been very impressive. The stadium, which holds up to 60,000 spectators, was flooded with strong lights. At one end was erected a large open stand with microphones from which Billy Graham preached.

Impressive Setting Right behind was a 200-piece orchestra and behind that a mixed chorus of over 1,000 local Protestants. The woman singers wore white capes over their shoulders while the men had green ones.

When Graham preached, he paused after each sentence and a translator repeated his words in Portuguese.

No donations were requested during revivals. All expenses were paid by members of various Protestant churches, many of whom had pledged to contribute 1,000 cruzeiros (approximately two dollars) per month for five months. Those residing in Sao Paulo opened their homes to accommodate the out-of-town visitors.

In his sermons, Graham preached repeatedly that salvation lies in following the simple teachings of Christ.

"Critical Days" Referring to the Brazilian crisis, Uruguay and Paraguay before he declared: "Brazil is passing through critical days. All the world is watching this largest country of South America with respect and admiration."

"If Brazilians would turn to God and love each other like brothers, the entire world would envy Brazil. The crisis is not a sign of defeat for Christianity; it was born of a crisis."

His revivals were widely covered by the Brazilian press. He months. Those residing in Sao Paulo opened their homes to accommodate the out-of-town visitors. In his sermons, Graham preached repeatedly that salvation lies in following the simple teachings of Christ.

From Brazil Graham moved on to stage revivals in Argentina, Uruguay and Paraguay before he returned home.

Please Protestants? Bible, Ring and Cross Chief Council Emblems

VATICAN CITY (AP)—A ring, a cross and the Bible, Protestant "delegate observers," These are the chief emblems of the historic gathering—the 2nd of Vatican Council—that opens in St. Peter's Basilica Thursday.

The ring and the crosses are the insignia of office of bishops of the Roman Catholic Church. Never in history have they gathered in such force.

As they begin considering means of reinvigorating the Church, a large, ancient copy of the New Testament will symbolize a keynote of their objectives. The Bible was chosen as a central symbol of the council because it is the fount of revelation," a spokesman said. "The deliberations will focus on it."

Placed on Altar The book, an elaborate, handwritten New Testament of 1472, will be placed on an altar before the assembled council each morning after Mass, before business sessions begin.

Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken of San Francisco said the symbolic significance was in line with the council's purposes. That is, he said, "to go back to the Church as Jesus founded it in its original purity and simplicity."

Use of the Scriptures as a council symbol seemed likely to through critical days. All the world is watching this largest country of South America with respect and admiration.

Administration Begins Planning Program for Session of Congress

Tax Cut, Medical Care for Aged Seen as Top Bills for Next Year

Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON — With Congress' administration is beginning to think about its program for next session.

It is too early yet to say what the whole program will look like, but, as of now, the two biggest items on it are a tax cut and hospital care for the aged.

It can safely be predicted that there will be no problem in winning congressional approval of an income tax cut. The administration is pledged to push for a cut, retroactive to Jan. 1, 1963, no matter when it is passed. Congress can be counted on to go merrily along with anything as popular as this.

Question Unanswered The unanswered question, however, is what kind of a cut it is going to be. Will it, for instance, favor the working man as the unions have demanded? Will it give the business man a big break, as business spokesmen have urged? Or will it end up as a compromise? There is certain to be a long and heated debate before the issue is resolved.

The fate of a hospital plan for the council.

The symbol also is in keeping with a biblical movement in Roman Catholicism. The Catholic Church also sees tradition—the cumulative insights of the church through the years—as a source of truth, although no accepted tradition may conflict with Scripture.

Wear Ring The channel through which these traditions often has come is the long succession of bishops, the men who wear the ring and the cross.

Whatever their origins, nation or race, the emblems of their ecclesiastical authority are the same: a heavy, often ornate episcopal ring on the third finger of the right hand, and a jeweled cross hanging on the chest.

This is their first general council in 92 years, and never before has the Church, crown to a worldwide body of half a billion, had so many bishops. There will be more than 2,500 participants in the council.

Chilean Currency May be Devaluated SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—The Chilean government suspended dollar sales Monday to prepare for an expected devaluation of the escudo this week.

President Jorge Alessandri announced five days ago that the poor state of the national economy necessitates a devaluation. The escudo now is valued officially at 1.05 to $1. On the open market, the escudo is quoted at two to $1.

New National Guard Armory

It finally appears that the City of Appleton after many years of anticipation will get a spanking new $500,000 National Guard armory sometime in 1963 to serve the entire Fox Cities region.

The action taken by the common council last week in donating the required land and improvements needed for the armory can be considered a feather in the hat of this progressive community.

Federal and state officials now have an obligation to complete the negotiations so construction of the armory, which will serve close to 1,000 Guardsmen from throughout this part of the state, can start early next year.

It is interesting to note that most city officials and engineers felt the site in the city's industrial park was ideal for the National Guard facility which should prove to be a valuable asset even though it is not an industry in the true sense of the word.

With the armory, Appleton will gain the distinction of being the hub of National Guard activity in this part of the state, and the annual payroll will amount to well over $400,000. Regular army personnel now stationed in other cities will also be moving to Appleton once the consolidation takes place.

National Guard officials have said it is planned to construct a modern and attractive armory building and a vehicle maintenance center, plus landscaping the area. It will be the first new construction in that area of the industrial park and might serve as an incentive for other industry to locate there.

The goodwill the Appleton common council has fostered by agreeing to donate land for the armory cannot be measured in terms of dollars and cents, but rather community and country service.

Cover Up in Ghana

As Nkrumah took over in Ghana when that African country was granted independence, he promised a brave new world of progress. But somewhere along the way the plans were sidetracked. Nkrumah became more interested in the myth of his own invincibility and the nation's political and economic health suffered.

Nkrumah's efforts to implant himself as a savior in the hearts of his people took the form of a solid indoctrination program. Statues, placards, plaques and slogans filled the country. But some of the Ghanians refused to be impressed. In 1959 Nkrumah persuaded the National Assembly to remove most constitutional protections and the Assembly found itself practically out of employment. Some of Nkrumah's closest advisors have since been arrested, exiled or imprisoned. Religious leaders who dared question Nkrumah's godliness had to leave the country. And newspapermen who reported the increasing bombings and unrest in the country were exiled. Now Nkrumah has announced that all outgoing news will be censored "to protect the economy."

The Ghanaian press, obviously under government sponsorship and protection, rants against "the intrigues of the capitalist press. . . . It is well known that some of the world's most vile characters, saboteurs, and subversive elements can be found among the Western press correspondents." The newspapers have also charged that the United States, England, France and West Germany were involved in the various bombings which have killed at least fifteen and wounded some 260 Ghanians.

Nkrumah is quite right in believing that "capitalist" investors will hesitate to pour money into Ghanaian industry as long as unfavorable conditions continue to exist. But simply censoring the news will not cure the ills. The invincible Nkrumah so far has been an increasing failure and the more stringent regulations indicate his realization of it.

A Walking Place

Some dour pessimists, peering into the future, predict in thoroughly unscientific fashion that mankind's legs and feet will wither away in generations to come since we simply don't use them enough. At the same time many doctors, most notably Mr. Eisenhower's heart specialist, have recommended walking as one of the best and certainly the easiest of exercises available.

One argument is that no particular equipment is needed for a hike. But, as this community grows, as highways fill up the countryside and quiet country roads become obsolete, the hiker is going to need something more than a city park in which to hike.

In the east, proponents of walking tours have campaigned so successfully for quiet paths banned to automobiles that trails extend from New England almost uninterruptedly into the south. The paths run through the wilder type of country, over mountains and hills, through meadows and woods, along streams and waterfalls. Before this area becomes too thoroughly built up, shouldn't the same thing be begun here?

Probably one of the first destinations should be Door County either by a trail along the bay shore or across to Lake Michigan and then north. A Youth Hostel has been operated for some years not far from Fairland in southern Door County for hikers and bikers on a jaunt. But to get anywhere the traveler must stay to some extent on a major highway which will be ever more crowded in the future. For safety, as well as for the best pleasure of walking and biking, trails should be closed to automobiles.

It's a project we would recommend to local organizations interested in preserving some of the beauties of nature with which this area is blessed and the appreciation of them by our youth. There is a serenity about a wilderness trail that can't be found under a cloud of highway dust, amid honking horns or even on the golf course. It strengthens the body, encourages thoughtful meditation and refreshes the soul. In these days of hurry and worry most of us could use to good advantage the quiet and peace of a wilderness trail.

Seven-State Medical School

One of the recurring problems in education is some sort of reciprocity with other states for courses and major fields which each state does not offer. In Wisconsin, for instance, veterinary medicine, architecture and forestry majors are unavailable to the student except in other states where he must pay the higher out-of-state tuition.

The Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education, involving 13 thinly populated states, has solved to a great extent the problem in that area. If a student in Nevada wants to attend the University of Utah Medical Center, for instance, Nevada will pay the school the $2,000 which is the difference between the tuition payments and the cost. If a student in Utah wants to get specialized instruction elsewhere, Utah pays the difference if the instruction isn't available in the home state.

The ceremony laying a cornerstone for the new University of Utah Medical Center illustrated the cooperation. Six states, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, Wyoming, Arizona and New Mexico, have no medical schools so their students may attend the Utah university school with no higher tuition payments. And in building a special miner rehabilitation wing on the new center, the allocations of the states of Montana, Colorado, Wyoming, Idaho, Nevada and Arizona were used to get enough funds from the Federal Hill-Burton Hospital Construction Act for the wing.

The advantages of such arrangements make unnecessary the construction and operation of duplicating facilities in specialized education. Using the bases of financing in the various states, there is both more borrowing power and a more effective and efficient use of funds.

There are more students in the mid-west per acre than in the states belonging to the Western Interstate Commission. The western states have had the added advantage of getting into much of the program from almost the beginning of many of the specialized offerings. But in the grey light of the booming enrollments at Wisconsin public institution of higher learning, we hope officials continue to try to work out cooperation and reciprocal arrangements with other states.

Tale of Space Becomes True In Moon Trip

From The Nashville Tennessean

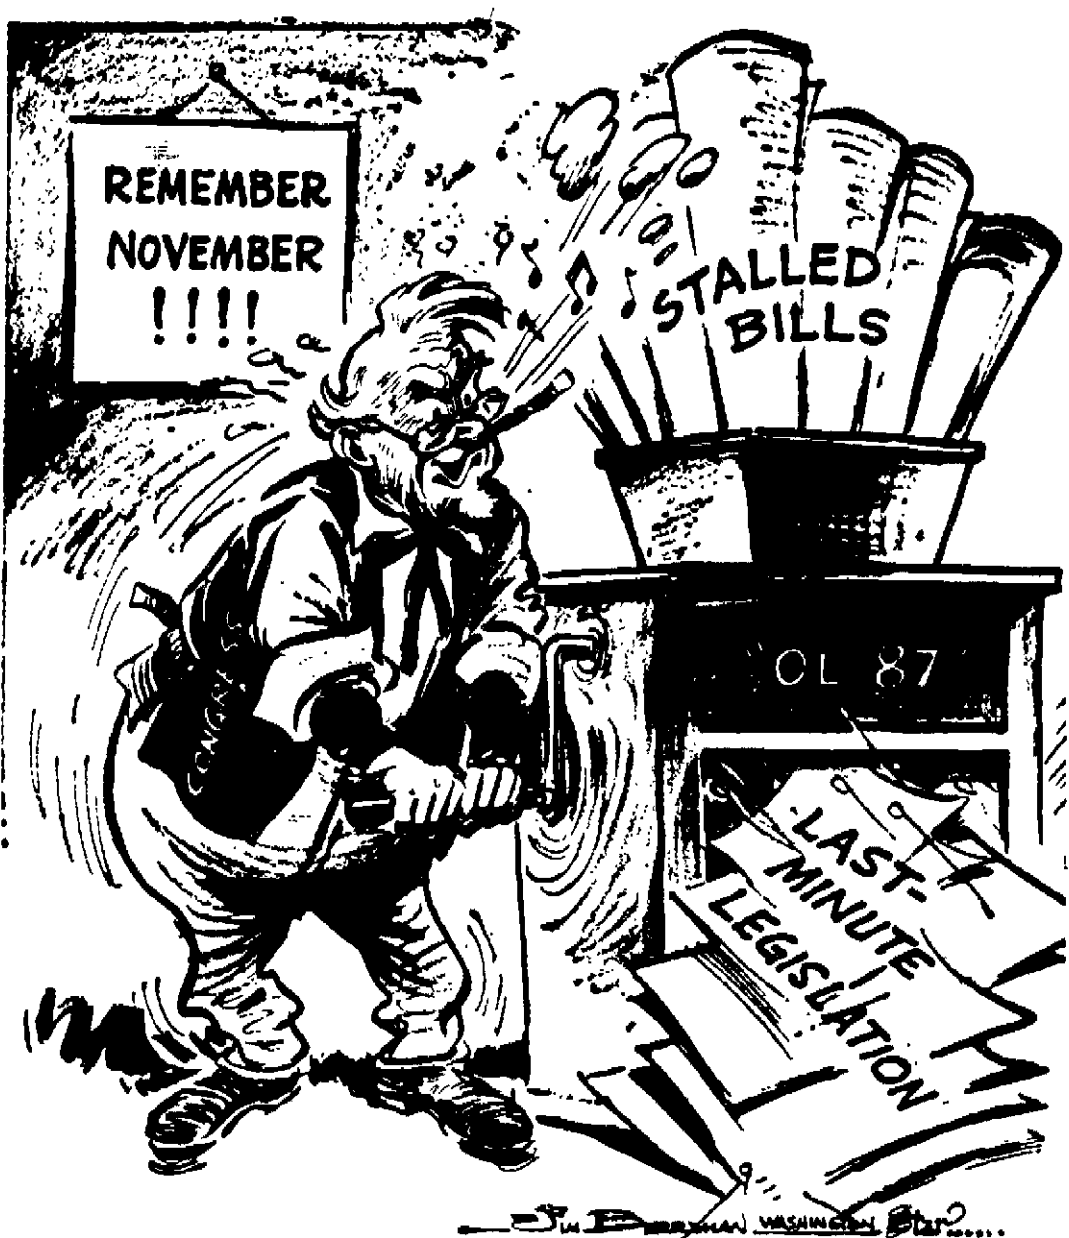

President Kennedy flew to Huntsville to hear a science fiction tale transformed into a true story.

By 1967, if all goes well, the President learned in a briefing by Dr. Werner von Braun, director of the Marshall Space Flight Center, three astronauts will be placed in orbit around the moon.

A portion of their Saturn C-5 rocket will break away from the mother craft and land on the moon. After spending some time on the moon, the two astronauts will launch themselves back into orbit, join the third astronaut, and return to earth.

After hearing the briefing and witnessing a static firing of a Saturn C-1 booster, the President accompanied by Vice President Lyndon Johnson, flew to Cape Canaveral to inspect launch facilities for the Mercury manned-shot programs and the Saturn boosters, then to Houston and St. Louis to visit space facilities. Mr. Kennedy obviously was impressed by what he heard and

'And the Days Grow Short When You Pass September!'

Menace of Conservatism

Maybe Reactionaries Could Be Resettled in One Place

BY MORRIE RYSKIND

It is high time for some plain speaking and facing up to the facts of life, regardless of anybody's tender sensibilities.

We only postpone the inevitable when we shadow-box with communism, colonialism, the depreciation of the dollar, drug addiction, juvenile delinquency, tax reform and such minor irritations. The real enemy — though politicians try to avoid it — is conservatism, and the only issue is what to do about it.

Even the President, in his recent address to the nation, barely touched on it. Though his impartial analysis of his first 81 weeks proved conclusively that he had overcome the Eisenhower recession and strengthened the national economy, raised our prestige to fabulous heights and retrained a coal miner to become a welder, he was content with only a passing reference to "the defenders of special privileges and interests" bent on keeping "the nation in the dark ages economically."

In not being more outspoken, he reveals, I believe, that he is the unwitting captive of the humanistic liberal tenet which holds that conservatives are more to be pitied than scorned.

Not that liberals are not free to scorn conservatives; indeed, no man can hope to make the inner circle of the Establishment unless he has written a play, novel or textbook heaping invective on the traditionalists or, at the least, provided proof of direct kinship with such an author.

Yet beneath their harsh words is a deep layer of compassion for the unfortunate who was born with less brains than a Mongoloid idiot and with a stony heart unable to bleed at the drop of a liberal phrase, the ultimate test of normality.

If now and then they snarl "Drop dead!" at him, it is, you may be sure, not malice. It is, rather, a pious humanitarian wish to spare the sufferer, for whom science holds no hope, the living death of utter senility. For conservatives, the records show, become senile when they reach the voting age of 21 and have a tendency to linger on.

It is a moot question whether the ballots of these incurable cretins should be counted, and indeed, some of the precincts in our more enlightened big cities have steadfastly refused to do so, with highly encouraging results for progressive candidates and measures.

Our problem would be solved if we could do this on a national scale, via Congress, but this is, for the moment, unrealistic. If a bill authorizing such a procedure were to be thrown into the hopper, there would arise howls of unconstitutionality. And the unholy alliance of Northern Republicans and Southern Democrats would be sure to see it never got out of committee.

For all that, however, there are ways and means. If the new head of Health, Education and Welfare should hold that conservatism — as it assuredly does — presents a more dangerous menace to our national health than some of the new drugs that have flooded the market, the additional powers he now wields might do the job. All known conservatives, for example, might be placed in mental institutions, where they properly belong.

Or perhaps they could be rounded up and resettled in a new community of their own, for they seem happier among themselves. We could allow them to have their own books, magazines and even TV shows as long as the rest of us weren't bothered. But, if this is the answer, we must be sure they are not allowed to propagate like the Jukes, and sterilization may be necessary.

Nor do I altogether rule out euthanasia, in spite of the fact that we are signatories to the genocide convention. In the case of the common enemy, the Russian bloc might vote with us to make this one exception. It might prove to be the first real thaw in the cold war.

There will be other suggestions for the job.

India Students Are Taking Part In School TV

NEW DELHI (AP) — India's only television recently stepped up its power to 5,000 watts and is now serving 30,000 high school students in the capital area.

Under a grant from the Ford Foundation, All India Radio is telecasting chemistry, physics, and Hindi lectures to students in the ninth and 10th grades in Delhi. The lectures and demonstrations are taped by Indian teachers in advance.

The program began in October 1961 with 144 schools taking part. As of September, 1962, 379 sets were functioning in 189 schools. Extension of the program to Bombay and other cities is envisioned.

There are no plans in India at present for any other TV stations except educational ones.

Ghost Town Exists In Louisville Area

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A ghost town exists about 20 miles from Louisville.

Pitt's Point was founded around 1790 at the junction of the Salt River and Rolling Fork in Bullitt County. It was named because of its resemblance to Fort Pitt, which is today the city of Pittsburgh.

Salt produced nearby was shipped up the Ohio River to Pittsburgh. The town was the site of a Civil War battle and a college named Pitt's Point Academy.

It contained a post office until 1905. Residents lived at Pitt's Point until about August 1940, when it and about 50,000 acres became part of Ft. Knox.

Remnants of the town are part of an Army artillery range.

Under the Capitol Dome Even If Reynolds Wins It Is Unlikely He'll Have Senate Majority

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — When Chairman Patrick J. Lucey of the Democratic state committee addressed the platform convention of his party the other day, he alluded briefly to one of the vital facts about the current state election campaign, but one that has had curiously little public attention.

It is the virtual impossibility of a complete Democratic victory for the control of state government this year, because of the overwhelmingly favored position of the Republicans in continuing the control of at least one house of the state legislature.

When Lucey told his party colleagues that the Democrats must win at least one house of the legislature to impose a veto power over the actions of the possible Republican governor during the next two years, it might have sounded like a fatalistic diagnosis. But Lucey is an old hand in politics. He was simply reminding his organization of one of the important facts of life, and emphasizing the critical nature of the November election with respect to the fortunes of his party as a whole during the next few years, and perhaps more.

Wyngaard

HOW IT GOES

The governorship is the key to the election in Wisconsin. If a party elects a governor it is in pretty good shape.

In a normal situation a winning governor will take with him the important subordinate offices, such as lieutenant governor and attorney general, a working majority of the state assembly which is on the ballot with him, and provide a good competition for his party in the several marginal congressional districts.

But complete control of the state involves also a working majority of the state senate, and the constitutional fathers of Wisconsin provided staggered terms for state senators in order to avoid abrupt and possibly impulsive shifts of political power in state affairs.

Gov. Nelson won two elections without getting control of the state senate. As matters stand now, John Reynolds, the new candidate for the governorship, has less chance of getting working control of the senate, even if he is successful, than did Nelson in 1958 and 1960.

The current senate line-up shows 20 Republican seats and 13 Democratic members, for a heavy Republican control. This year 17 seats are up in the election. Eight of them are held by Republicans of such stature and seniority as to make them inevitably the favorites for reelection. The Republicans need to elect only five of the eight, to give them a working majority of 17 votes in the 1963 state senate. In point of fact, they are reasonably confident of maintaining their 20-13 control, at the least, and in private they are conjecturing with some confidence that they will increase their advantage.

MEANING

What this means is that Reynolds is running for the governorship in a fairly pessimistic situation.

Even if he should win — which is a highly debatable matter — he would be virtually powerless after his inauguration because of the adamant opposition of the state senate to most of his ideas. Gov. Nelson now and then was able to persuade the senators to support him on some measures, in part because he had friends from 10 years of senate service. It is no disrespect to Reynolds to say that he won't have that kind of claim upon the Republican senators.

In a negative way, there is some value to Reynolds in this dubious position. Knowing that he won't be able to pass his major measures, he knows also that he won't be called to account for what he is now proposing in the way of campaign platform, including higher income tax levies that would put Wisconsin far out ahead of all other states in this regard.

He knows that he can campaign with impunity. Even if he is elected and he makes these proposals formally, he knows they won't become law. He can have the name, without the game, if he is so disposed. It is a luxury that a Wisconsin politician rarely enjoys.

Looking Backward

State Men in Perryville Battle

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Motor for Oct. 23, 1962.

HOSPITAL NEAR PERRYVILLE, Ky., Oct. 12—On Wednesday, the 8th inst., as you have already learned, a desperate battle was fought, our Kentucky army and Bragg's forces being hotly engaged from 2 o'clock until dark. The 21st Wisconsin, fatigued and thirsty for want of wholesome water, reached the field of action about 4 p. m., just as the left wing of the army was being repulsed with great slaughter. The enemy's force was then being rushed upon our left.

The 21st Wisconsin was formed in line of battle in a cornfield in the rear of the 24th Illinois while our batteries were playing over them upon the enemy. This was evidently a blunder, as the corn was so high that our men could not see the enemy until they were within 30 yards of them, rushing upon them like demons.

The fire of the 21st told fearfully upon the rebels, and then the regiment fell back over the hill, leaving the first field to the rebels. But they were so dreadfully cut up they did not stop to bury their dead.

Some think it was a drawn battle, but we claim the victory, as we held the field on our right and center. Bragg (Confederate) is falling back and we are following him with all possible speed. He must be captured or blotted out.

Our loss has been very great, but nothing compared to the enemy's.

Many noble hearts in northern Wisconsin will be pained and crushed by the desperate facts of the battle. Our wounded have been scattered so far and wide that I have been unable to obtain all the names, and I have not the names of the killed.

I think when the truth is known, we shall find that the 21st Wisconsin has about 100 wounded and some less than 50 killed and mortally wounded. This is an awful sacrifice of life and must carry sorrow to many hearts. May a merciful God sustain these many bleeding hearts.

O. P. Clinton, Chaplain and Vernon (Lefty) Gomez of the Yankees were to open the World Series contest of 1937 the following day.

Nine class champions in sports at Appleton High School were to compete for school titles in three fields: horseshoes, golf and tennis. Horseshoe champs were senior, Robert Fisher, junior, Robert Block and sophomore, Charles Tollins. Golf champions were senior, Carl Leisinger, junior, Robert Mader, and sophomore, James Campbell. In tennis, the champs included senior, Harold Ackert, junior, John Trautman and sophomore, Kenneth Powers.

Appointed to chairmanships in the Neenah Club were C. W. Miller, membership, William Daniel, entertainment, Ambrose Owen, auditing, and W. H. Krueger, house committee.

Irene Vorstegen was elected president of the Girls Athletic Association of St. John High School, Little Chute. Other officers included Jacoba Verbruggen, vice president, Margaret Mary DeGroot, secretary, and Margaret Peeters, treasurer, and Eunice Hartjes, point secretary for the various sports.

Note of Warning Voiced by Byrnes

Two Conditions Seen as Musts For Success in Trade Agreement

BY FRANCES MCKUSICK
Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Although congressional approval of the Trade Agreements Act paves the way for negotiations with European countries on lower tariffs, this does not mean that the United States will automatically gain access to the Common Market, nor that American products immediately flood the shelves and windows of retail stores across the Atlantic.

Rep. John W. Byrnes, Green Bay, who managed the Trade Agreements Act for Republican members of the House Ways and Means committee, both on the House floor and in conference committee, struck this note of warning after the house approved the final conference report 256 to 91 last week.

Two Conditions

What benefits the act will bring American labor and industry depends on two conditions, Byrnes stated.

"One of these conditions is the adoption by the administration and the congress on policies in this country which will permit our products to be competitive with their foreign counterparts," he declared. "Our standards of living are much higher, generally speaking, than those in any other part of the world, so we must find some way to compensate for this so that our prices can be competitive."

Emphasizing that reductions must be a two-way street, the congressman said that success of the act also depended upon "the success of our negotiators in getting the common market countries to lower their import duties on American goods."

"There is no use in being competitive, if other countries refuse to reduce their tariffs on our goods," he stated, adding that if we lower our duties on foreign goods, but don't receive a comparable trade advantage in return, the act will do our economy more harm than good.

Changes Made

The senate, Byrnes said, made two major changes in the act from the original house version which he and other house conferees were successful in keeping out of the final conference report.

The senate "changed the language of a house amendment which made it clear that Yugoslavia and Poland were not to receive 'the favored nations' treatment from the United States in the matter of lower import tariffs."

"The changes made in this amendment by the senate clearly weakened the Yugoslavia-Poland provision," Byrnes said. "However, we managed to keep the house language in the report."

Incidentally, the first amendment introduced to a tariff bill dealing with trade with Communist-dominated countries was introduced by Byrnes in 1951. This was the Thilmany amendment, adopted by the house at that time, and renewed the duties of that division yearly, barred benefits of lower-tariffing to communist countries.

Act Written In

During recent years, however, the house felt that this provision was sidestepped by the executive branch of the country, and wrote the specific Yugoslavia-Poland amendment into the Trade Agreements Act.

The senate bill also contained a provision giving the President broader powers to extend his authority to cut tariffs to all countries in the Western world, thus, as Byrnes explained it, "changing the basic concept of the act which originally limited this authority to Common Market countries only."

On this difference also the senate conferees agreed to take the original house language covering only those countries in the Common Market.

Sewage Flow Due for Probe

Human Waste Said To be Contaminating Appleton Street

City Atty. Fred Froehlich said today he will investigate complaints that human contaminants are flowing into the city from the Town of Grand Chute and other outlying regions.

"I don't know what the situation is because I haven't checked it out yet," Froehlich commented. One common council committee, the Appleton Board of Health and Aid, Clifford Radder have urged that the city attorney take action to remedy the most serious situation which exists at the north end of N. Division Street.

In addition, the State Board of Health is aware of the situation and has advised city officials to take legal action if no cooperation is forthcoming from the township.

"All I know is what I read in the newspaper," Froehlich said of the problem. On N. Division Street, the raw sewage is flowing into a city storm sewer.

"I'm going to find out the problem and then decide what course of action to take," Froehlich added.

Collection Of Leaves Scheduled

City crews have started annual leaf collections.

Acting Public Works Director Henry Crowe announced a pickup schedule which will be in effect for at least two weeks "until all the leaves are hauled away."

Crowe called upon residents to cooperate by raking leaves into piles along the boulevards — not in the streets. He warned that putting leaves in the gutters would create a serious situation in the event of rain.

The leaf pickup schedule:

Monday — North of East College Ave., east of N. Oneida, and south of W. Wisconsin Ave., to the river.

Tuesday — The area bounded by W. College Ave., W. Wisconsin Ave., N. Oneida, St., and the city limits on the west.

Wednesday — Everything north of Wisconsin Ave.

Thursday — Everything south of College Ave. to the river.

Friday — Everything south of the Fox River.

Kennedy Plans Oregon Visit During Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy put Portland, Ore., on his campaign schedule today, for Thursday, Oct. 25.

Portland will be one port of call on the weekend of politicking which probably will take the President into California for some intensive activity in behalf of Democratic congressional candidates and the bid by Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown to hold on to the governorship against the challenge of former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Presidential press secretary Pierre Salinger said Kennedy will address a night political rally in Portland.

Other details of the weekend still are uncertain, but Salinger said, "It is likely, if not probable, that he will go from Portland to California for a weekend of campaigning."

Asked when Kennedy will go back to Michigan—the President was there last weekend—Salinger replied that he expects Kennedy to return but "I can't give you the date for that."

Senator Claims Kennedy Made Big Mistake

Southerner States President Acted Too Hastily in Ole Miss

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — A learned judge, who served on the highest court of his state and now is a United States Senator, feels that President Kennedy made a mistake in failing to wait till the state of Mississippi had a chance to present its case to the entire Supreme Court of the United States before using troops to enforce a lower court order.

Senator Sam. J. Ervin, Democrat, of North Carolina sent to many of his constituents last week a letter which expresses the view that the administration bungled the Mississippi case. This, incidentally, is also the feeling of a large number of other lawyers throughout the country.

It so happens that not until Monday of this week did the Supreme Court finally consider the application of the state of Mississippi and formally deny its request for an appeal. Only this week, therefore, can it really be said that Mississippi had exhausted all legal procedures available in attempting to deny James Meredith admission to the University of Mississippi.

Senator Ervin, formerly an associate justice of the North Carolina Supreme Court, wrote as follows:

"As a consequence of my experience in the administration of justice as a trial lawyer and judge, I am firmly of the opinion that except in the most extraordinary circumstances no judicial decision should ever be carried into execution until the losing party has been afforded the opportunity to utilize all legal procedures available to him to secure a reversal of such decision, and such decision has become final.

Not Extraordinary
"There were no extraordinary circumstances in the Meredith case. If the course set out above had been pursued and the execution of the judgment in that case had been postponed until the Supreme Court had ruled upon the application of Mississippi for a certiorari to review such judgment, it is possible that the tragic events which have transpired in Mississippi within the last few days might well have been avoided. Unfortunately, however, some of the judges connected with this case forsook judicial discretion for haste.

"For example, Mr. Justice Black, of the United States Supreme Court, refused to stay the execution of the judgment on the ground that 'there is very little likelihood that this court will grant certiorari to review the judgment of the Court of Appeals.' In other words, Mr. Justice Black stated, in substance, that he would not stay the judgment in a case which the court had never considered because he thought the court would probably decide the case against the applicant when it heard the case.

"With all due deference, Mr. Justice Black's statement might be becoming to a crusader. It certainly does not bfit an occupant of a judicial office. This is true because it cannot be reconciled with due process of law, increase from the $21,323.153 which Daniel Webster so well declared in the Dartmouth College of 1961. The 1961 earnings were case is 'a law which hears before it condemns; which proceeds upon inquiry, and renders judgment only after trial.'

"The Constitution would not have been destroyed and the heavens would not have fallen if the Scott has operations at Marietta efforts to force the entrance of Meredith into the University of Mississippi had been postponed until the Supreme Court had acted upon the application of the state of Mississippi for certiorari to review the judgment in his case.

"Since there were no extraordinary circumstances requiring the immediate acceptance of Meredith by the University of Mississippi, the Department of Justice and the President ought to have taken the position that the physical might of the federal government would not be employed to execute the judgment of the Court of Appeals until the Supreme Court of the United States made such judgment final by denying the application of Mississippi for a writ of certiorari or by deciding the case adversely to Mississippi on its merits.

"Unfortunately, the Court of Appeals, Mr. Justice Black, the Department of Justice, and the President did not pursue these courses of action.

Used Force
"And, unfortunately, Governor Barnett resorted to a species of physical force to prevent the execution of the decree in the Meredith case. I think he was mistaken in so doing for at least two reasons.

"As a practical matter, he was unwise in pitting the limited physical force of his state against the military might of the United States.

"In the second place, every party to a judicial proceeding ought to obey the decree entered in such proceeding even though he honestly believe such decree to be unwarranted or unconstitutional. In saying this, I do not imply that I approve of the decree of the Court of Appeals in the Meredith case. That decree was based upon the decision made by the Supreme Court of the United States on May 17, 1954, and I think it is well known that I have always maintained that the Supreme Court of the United States transgressed its constitutional authority to interpret the Constitution and undertook to amend the Constitution when it handed down that decision.

"Governor Barnett's foolish action did not justify precipitate counteraction on the part of others. On the contrary, it called for the exercise of the greatest patience on their part. As Saint Paul so well stated, 'all things are lawful unto me, but all things are not expedient.'

Senator Ervin also argues that, even after the President 'reached the conclusion that his duty required him to use the military might of the nation to enforce the judgment,' he should have issued a proclamation advising the people of Mississippi of the facts and setting a specified time for action so as to give Mississippi officials time to comply before troops actually were used to enforce the judgment. Mr. Kennedy, unfortunately, issued his proclamation only a few hours before sending in armed marshals, backed up by military units, to enforce the court order.

Towns Association Effort Last 'Dying Gasp' of Areacrat Interests

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — The convention resolution of the Wisconsin Towns Association advocating a constitutional amendment to assure area as well as population factors in apportionment of the legislature is the dying gasp of what has come to be known as the "areacrat" movement in legislative politics.

Not one legislative politician in a dozen believes there is any longer a chance for such a modification of the constitutional representation rule, aside from what his private preferences might be. The urbanization of the state is too far advanced to make it likely that a referendum vote on such a proposal would achieve ratification, and there is little likelihood the legislature would submit the question to such a vote, in any event.

Both political parties are now squarely committed to population reapportionment in the 1963 legislature. Moreover, politicians are aware of the pressure of court action/representing the circuit judges of on the issue. The federal court panel which considered the issue last summer left the question hanging, depending upon the 1963 legislature's decisions. The state supreme court has also kept the question open.

The board which administers the new Outdoors Recreation Act will ask the 1963 legislature to amend the land condemnation laws to grant the power of eminent domain for the building of artificial lakes on the same basis as the state now condemns lands for parks and other public recreational facilities. Officials believe they can get half a dozen lake construction projects underway in the western part of the state during the next two years if they have the condemnation tools.

Judge Merrill Farr of Eau Claire has been seated as a member of the State Judicial Council.

Committee Asks Uniform County Law be Repealed

MADISON (AP)—A member of the Legislative Council's efficiency in government committee proposed today that the group give favorable consideration to elimination of Wisconsin's uniform county government law.

Assemblyman Fred Risser, D-Madison, said the constitutional provision should give way to change that would permit counties to adopt governmental forms best suited to their needs.

There were objections raised to Risser's proposal. But the committee will study it and decide in a November meeting whether to submit it to the 1963 Legislature.

'Short Supply' May Help This Red Boss

Chicago Daily News Service

MUNICH, Germany — Antonin Novotny, Czechoslovak Communist leader, recently made a speech in which he admitted "temporary" supply troubles.

However, he promised "there will be meat."

When he got home, according to a story going around Prague, his wife said, "Tony, you're a fool. You've made a promise you can't keep. If there's no meat inside a year at the latest they'll string you up."

"Don't worry," Novotny assured her, "in a year there will be no rope either."

The anecdote was related by Radio Free Europe.

There might be some curiosity about how much the state recently spent in an employment hearing, arbitration, and publication of a long opinion that concluded that the Oshkosh Eagles Club owed a discharged bartender $65 and ought to pay up.

The Wisconsin County Boards Association has dispatched to the county courthouses of the state a proposed model ordinance for the establishment of fact-finding procedures in employee relations cases. The new law, giving the state labor board jurisdiction in such matters, also provides that the counties may set up their own machinery if their ordinances are substantially in compliance with the state fact finding methods prescribed in the new statute.

Optimistic Republicans, looking over the roster of chief state administrative officials with a view to possible appointments after their expected victory in November, have realized with some chagrin that there will be few Democrats to topple from high places. Most of the immediate vacancies involve Republican appointees holding over under six year terms granted by the last Republican administration, including such men as Arthur Padrucci of the public service commission, Reuben Knutson of the industrial commission, G. H. Bakke of the highway commission, and others of recognized Republican pedigree.

Such men will almost certainly be reappointed, if Philip Kuehn is elected.

There will be a few vacancies in the next gubernatorial term, however, including the state insurance commissioner'ship which has been held by Charles Manson, and the directorship of the state department of administration soon to be vacated by Joe E. Nusbaum. Gov. Nelson's close friend and key associate.

Nusbaum has had some attractive job offers in Washington and elsewhere.

But he has told friends that he wants to settle down in a small town in one of the mountain states of the west and is now scouting job opportunities there.

After Game Party Hit For Fans

With gridiron fever rampant, you'll rate special cheers if you hostess an after the game party featuring a football theme.

Whether they have been rooting for high school, college or professional teams, pigskin fans like to "gather around" following an afternoon game to discuss the plays and analyze the game — especially where food and drink are served.

The simplest solution for an after the game party hostess is a buffet supper of hearty food and drink for the football followers and "armchair quarterbacks." By preparing a "football" table setting ahead of time and most of the food too so all it needs is an oven warmup you can join the fun.

Centerpiece Suggestions

Here are two suggestions for table settings highlighted by flower centerpieces in the football motif.

Take narrow strips of a white fabric and lay them on a green tablecloth to form a gridiron pattern. Paint dowels and anchor them in styrofoam at one end of the table to represent goal posts. Use a football helmet as a container for autumn flowers, such as mums and pompons.

School or college colors can be repeated in napkins made of fabric remnants. White or light green dinnerware, for example, would blend harmoniously in such a table setting.

Stadium Setting

If you wish to avoid showing partiality toward a team, design a perpendicular centerpiece of large white chrysanthemums using a few brown leaves as fillers. Form a miniature stadium of white construction paper about four inches in width and place it around the base of the flowers. Draw several inverted U's on the paper to denote stadium entrances. Using scraps of felt of different colors, cut small pennants, tape them to pipe cleaners and then the pipe cleaners to the inside "stadium" wall. Place a few brown leaves in front of the centerpiece.

Use of a brown or burnt orange colored table cloth with lighter or darker shades of napkins and dinnerware featuring a leaf pattern on a white background would blend nicely in such a table setting.

Colorful and unusual flower centerpieces carrying out the football theme will make you a party winner, even if the home team loses the big contest.

Dr. Miles to Speak At BPW Dinner

Dr. Minnie C. Miles, Tuscaloosa, Ala., 1962-63 president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc., will be the featured speaker at a 7 p.m. dinner Thursday at the Conway Hotel. The event marks the observance of National BPW Week and climaxes a program of events planned by members of area clubs.

Dr. Miles, who serves as chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Business and Professional Women's Foundation, is former president of the Alabama Federation of BPW and was first, second and third vice president and program coordination chairman of the National Federation. She is Associate Professor of Management for the School of Commerce and Business Administration at the University of Alabama where she has been a faculty member since 1942. She also serves as a field associate for George Fry Associates, a management consulting firm. She is the wife of Muriel A. Miles, Tuscaloosa.

Has Listed Aims: The national president has outlined three major goals for her administration. They are a Congress of American Women Leaders to be held in October in Washington, D. C., for the purpose of discussing common problems and goals; a series of leadership seminars for business and professional women across the country; and the foundation of a research program to investigate what women must know to succeed in business and professions.

Dr. Miles has been a teacher during most of her business career. She received her master's degree in Business Administration from Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., and her Ph.D. from Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind. She was chosen one of 10 most outstanding former students of Mary Hardin Baylor College, Belton, Tex., in 1961. She received Alabama's Woman of Achievement Award in 1957-58 and is listed in "Who's Who of American Women" and "Who's Who in the South and Southwest."

Guests of honor at the dinner will be Gov. Gaylord Nelson, State Treasurer Mrs. Dena Smith, State Federation president Mrs. Henrietta Ekstrom, Mayor and Mrs. Clarence Mitchell and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Van Sistine. Women's clubs from the Fox Cities have also been invited to attend.

Ins, Outs Determined By Society

BY PATRICIA MOORE
Chicago Daily News Service

Society is its own pacesetter—even if the pace is a few long strides behind the rest of the population.

The blue chips set decides for itself what's "In" and "Out" whether or not the fad is fading elsewhere. For example, the bouffant hair style for women was already old stuff in Podunk before it appeared in many upper crust suburbs. And then it was a modified version.

On the other hand, society started the fashion for gin 'n' tonic years ago and, while the drink remains popular generally, it is being replaced by rum drinks.

Last year it was "in" to tour the Orient. Now it's smart to take a Scandinavian cruise or go to Europe just to sail on the new France.

Pictures Are "In"
After a trip, framed color pictures of skin diving in Barbados or sailing off Cape Cod are "in" to hang in the library.
It's "in" to give antiques as wedding presents—dessert plates, cups and saucers or even a small piece of furniture.
The only bridal showers truly "in" are kitchenware and books. Bar showers are "out"—too gimmicky.

Needle thin heels never were "in" so the fashion world is now catching up with Mrs. Proper Society with her squarish heels.

The trapeze line, the H line, the A line and any other line can come and go but the linen sheath and tailored wool dress stay forever "in."

Apple Pie Is "Out"
Apple pie may be as American as the flag elsewhere but it's never been "in" to the smart set. Light desserts (watching the waistline, you know) are always "in."

Falling into swimming pools is now on its way "out" because it's been overdone and what good Republican wants to look like a Kennedy copycat.

The boom in private swimming pools has caught up with the country club pool set and its "in" to have your own.
It's "out" to wear stockings during the Summer. Every "in" woman has deeply tanned legs from the golf course or pool side.

Today's Etiquette

BY LOUISE DAVIS

MOTHER AT REHEARSAL

Dear Louise: I have been informed that the bride's mother is absolutely not allowed at the rehearsal in the church. Since this makes no sense to me, I would like to know if this is just a superstition or is it really not correct? P. M., Memphis Tenn.

Louise Davis Answers:

How illogical and confused can one get? Much of etiquette is common sense, and no wonder this doesn't make sense to you! The bride's mother is chief engineer and boss. It is her duty to be on hand at the rehearsal to supervise and direct. Who has a better right? Father should be on hand too. He has a little rehearsing to do.

INDIFFERENT NEIGHBORS

Dear Louise: My husband and I moved to this neighborhood six months ago, but as yet not one person has been near our home to greet us or even to smile an unspoken "how do you do." I am wondering if the good neighbor policy is a thing of the past.

T. R., Madison, Wis.
Louise Davis Answers: The good neighbor policy may be on the wane here and there, but I have enough faith in mankind to think it will never die. You just happened to move into an unfriendly, thoughtless, indifferent or conservative neighborhood. There are lots of them, especially in large cities.

Newcomers often have to go more than half way, but cautiously in your case, I suggest that you wear your sincere, friendly smile, which often works like a magnet. As time goes on you will see your neighbors repeatedly, when a pleasant "good morning" or "how do you do" from you reaps rewards.

Aid Hostesses

HORTONVILLE — The Bethlehem Lutheran Ladies Aid Nov. 1 meeting will have hostesses Mrs. Fred Tesch, Mrs. Leonard Timm, Mrs. Edward, Mrs. Emil and Mrs. Robert Warning and Mrs. Peter Wied.

Lady Astor Is Witty, Articulate

BY EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP)— At the age of 83, Virginia-born Lady Astor is as articulate, witty and outrageous as ever.

On her first full-length television interview last night, she was asked if she came from a rich Virginia family.

Her blue eyes hardened for a moment as she replied:

"What? After those damned Yankees had ruined the south?"

She was next asked if her father, the late Col. Chiswell Dabney Langhorne, was a teetotaler as she is.

"A teetotaler!" she snorted. "Why, he made the best mint juleps in Virginia."

Opinion of Men

A determined feminist, Lady Astor was asked her opinion of men.

"I haven't anything against them," she replied, "but Eve showed which was the weaker."

Recalling her long friendship with the late playwright George Bernard Shaw and his wife, Lady Astor said:

"When he was 93 years old, women were still trying to vamp him."

With a chuckle she recalled how she once washed Shaw's hair when they were visiting Moscow together.

'It Was Dirty'

"It was dirty," snapped her ladyship, "and I saw to it that he washed it. In fact, I rolled up my sleeves and washed it for him."

She said she was astounded to find a group of American newspapermen looking on.

Lady Astor and the Shaws visited Moscow before World War II. She said Joseph Stalin asked her why the British governed most of the world.

"I told him," she said, "that the British translated the Bible and read it and understood justice and mercy."

Thomas Dietrich 'Painting Tour' Lecture Set For Thursday

Thomas M. Dietrich will conduct 'A Painting Tour' at the third of the lecture series presented by the Women of All Saints Episcopal Church Thursday. The program will take place at 10 a.m. in the Parish Center.

Mr. Dietrich, a native of Appleton, is Artist in Residence at Lawrence College. He has had from two to six one-man-shows a year for the last 20 years. His work has been exhibited at art museums, public museums, colleges, libraries and galleries throughout the U.S. The artist attended the University of Wisconsin Experimental College, the Cincinnati Art Academy, the Minneapolis School of Art, the Ox-Bow Summer School of Art in Michigan, and Oyster Bay, Long Island, N.Y.

Everything's Rosy in Home Decorating

Fabrics in the pink and rose families were notable at recent furniture market showings. These fabrics with their warm and pleasant cast go well with fine hardwood furniture, especially with natural walnut tones which are so favored today.

Popular vinyl upholstery is also available in pinks, salmon and coral colors.

Other colors in favor are cool seafoams and greens, full-bodied persimmon and orange colors, yellows from lemon to butter tones and oyster whites. All these shades and more go well with the rich, natural beauty of hardwood.

Wood is being given increased attention in furniture design. Curved walnut backs, for example, enclose many chairs. Sofas are completely backed in polished wood.

With the modern trend to place accent on wood beauty, it is customary to find one or two distinct colors stressed in a room. Others are grace notes.

This wood-plus-color technique gives a room personality and flair with a minimum of furnishings.

A fine hardwood such as walnut combined with colored fabrics appeals particularly to young married couples, who want comfort and beauty without clutter.

Your Problems

Too Much Girl Showing Never Indicates a Lady in Knit Dress

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our 16-year-old daughter is very mature for her age both physically and mentally. We are having a little disagreement about her fall wardrobe.

She has gone in rather heavily for knitted outfits. Generally her taste is excellent but some of the garments she brought home yesterday appear to be much too tight on her.

Can you give me an idea of how tight a 16-year-old's dresses ought to be? Thank you.—Square Mother.

Dear Mother: Tight enough so that she looks like a girl—but loose enough so that she looks like a lady.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Yesterday when I went out to the garage to check the garden tools before putting them away for the winter, I noticed something in the back seat of the car. It turned out to be a woman's cashmere sweater and a pair of high-heeled slippers. They did not belong to me. In fact I had never seen them before.

My husband has never given me any reason to suspect that he may be slipping around behind my back. I would have bet my life he was 100 per cent faithful. Finding those things in the car has upset me terribly.

I confided in my closest friend who knows a lot about men. She has had three divorces.

She says all husbands are 100 per cent faithful—until they get caught. She advised me to keep my mouth shut and forget I ever saw anything. Do you agree that this is the smart move?—Bonnie.

Dear Bonnie: When you want advice go to a winner—not a loser. I think your girl friend gave you a bum steer.

sume the worst and deny your husband an opportunity to explain. This is unfair. It may be that there is no hanky - panky whatever but you'll never believe it until you clear the air.

DEAR ANN: Several weeks ago my husband's sister invited us to a dinner party in her home.

The dinner was scheduled for 7 p.m. on Saturday. At noon on Saturday a car pulled up with surprise visitors. It was my sister and her husband, his brother and wife and mother-in-law. Since they had driven 130 miles to see us I had no choice but to be hospitable. We have plenty of extra beds and food in the freezer so that is never a problem.

I phoned my husband's sister and asked her if I could bring Far To Go, enclosing with your guests to her dinner party. She was most ungracious and finally said, "Well, bring them—we'll manage somehow."

The party was terrible. She help us around two tables instead of seating up a third one. There didn't seem to be enough self-addressed envelope food or wine. I'm sure she did this intentionally, to make me uncomfortable.

I say a lady would have handled the emergency with grace and made everyone feel welcome. What do you say?—Rozalind.

Dear Rozalind: Saddling a hostess with five extra guests at a sit-down dinner is inexcusable. For the price of a four-cent stamp or a telephone call the pack could have let you know they were coming. It is the height of rudeness to blow in and expect people to drop everything.

American, European Men Contribute to Fashions

BY DON RECK
Chicago Daily News Service

Just as no one knows positively how high is high, no one knows who is the best dressed, European or American men.

Any discussion usually ends this way:

Europeans think they're better dressed than those overbearing, boorish Americans.

Americans think they're better dressed than those overbearing, boorish Europeans.

Harry Hansen, of Gothenburg, Sweden, is considered one of Europe's best designers of men's clothes.

Matter of Interest

"After visiting America and (studying) American fashion, it seems as if the European man is more interested in clothes and fashion than the American."

"In Europe there are more colors in the fashion and more varied models both in regard to suits, jackets and coats."

Is this true?

Well, American men were interested enough in clothing to spend $3,400,000,000 on it last year and $3,370,000,000 in 1960. They spent another $3,755,000,000 on furnishings last year and $3,725,000,000 in 1960.

Book Sold out

Another point a $3.95 fashion book for men has been sold out for months.

One of the noted American manufacturers of men's clothes reports it has more than 1,000 different fabrics, several hundred shades of cloth, about 35 different suit models, 16 different sport jackets and 15 different outer coats.

Now, Harry Hansen will continue:

"I want to point out that the common attitude of the (European) consumer goes toward higher quality and better needlework."

"Otherwise expressed, lately one can notice a consciousness of quality."

Just about any American male worth his salt can give our side's reply.

Look of Quality

What man has ever bought a suit, a shirt, a pair of slacks, or any item of clothing, without feeling the fabric and looking at the weave? And if the men aren't looking for quality, it's because their wives are when they buy their husband's clothes.

Just what is it that makes the European think he is more disinterested in a dresser than the man on this continent?

Hansen, like most clothing designers, is frank.

"In Europe we really do not talk about any special European fashion. We try to effect an international fashion."

International Fashion

"This international fashion I would like to characterize as a fashion without too great exaggeration where American as well as European trends have been combined in a style that will always give (the man) a self-evident and careless elegance."

"Men's fashion in Europe is, in a certain degree, influenced by the American style."

On this last point, American men are likely to agree with Hansen and other Europeans.

The American "look" has been whisked across the oceans and Europeans, thus far, have not been in much of a hurry to whisk it back.

Natural Shoulder Accepted

The natural shoulder, three-button suit is being accepted there. We, of course, cannot forget that many European men's styles are popular in the United States.

This fall, men's and women's sportswear will be completely dominated by the Scandinavian ski "look."

And we can't forget the British

Prevent Skin From Fading

This is the time when many outdoor girls suddenly discover their complexion isn't as alive as it was in late summer.

The skin may be dry and rough. Or a fading tan may have a sallow, somewhat muddy appearance. No make-up in the world will help this condition!

The problem is a simple case of too much sun, wind and water. What can be done? Start right now on a fall skin reconditioning program.

Instead of the daily soap and water scrub use rich cleansing creams or special dry-skin lotions at night to remove make-up and grime. Then use lots of facial tissues to remove all traces of cream.

Next, lather the face and neck with more oily cream. Let this set a moment or two and wipe off with more clean tissues.

Take a bath while this second coating of oily creams sets on your face. The over-all warmth in the room helps the oil penetrate. Steam and cream your face this way regularly for at least a week. Extra special care will go a long way toward repairing any damage done to your complexion.

Pair Weds In Double Ring Rite

MENASHA — Wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Donna Faye Smith and Airman Ronald James Ambrosius at 6 p.m. Saturday.

Few aspects of fashion reflect your flair for dressing as does color. When a woman is timid about using it, she is in danger of appearing colorless. When she's explosive, she is apt to look like a gypsy.

Ideal use produces a striking but not garish effect. To achieve it, you have to look at color with a clear eye. You have to see a hue as it is, to recognize that fashion's new green is not just another green, but toned with yellow or blue.

Exact analysis paves the way for the most interesting color harmony between a costume and its accessories. If you do not now trust your eye, it would be worthwhile to daub about with a child's paint box. Then the nuances and interplay of color soon would become evident.

For one thing you would see harmonies and clashes in action. How shades with the same undertone—bluish, forest green and aqua—are always in harmony. How a clash occurs when undertones differ—those of fuchsia and coral, let's say.

In addition, the importance of contrasting color values—light to dark—would come plain: How either a bright or pale shade points up a dark one and how, when juxtaposed, two pale hues or two bright hues detract from each other.

Avant garde colorists sometimes disregard the rules and top

Miss Cecelia Korte served as honor attendant and best man was David King. Ushering duties were shared by Ronald M. Smith, brother of the bride, and John Reed.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Air Force Base at Madera. The couple will honeymoon enroute to Menasha, where they will live. A reception and dance will be held in their honor on Oct. 21 at Marathon Union Hall.

The bride, a graduate of Madera Union High School, was employed at the Busy Boy Palace in Madera. The bridegroom, a Menasha High School graduate, has just completed four years with the Air Force.

Sheinwold More Talk On Cue Bid

Today we continue our discussion of the enemy's suit. You make such a bid surprising offer in response to your partner's takeout double.

In today's hand North wants to get to game since he has 13 points in high cards opposite a takeout double. Since North doesn't want to guess whether spades or hearts will make a better trump suit he bids the enemy's suit to thrust the choice back on South.

Because of interference bidding the choice takes place at the level of game. North is quite satisfied with this because he has full values for game.

Occasionally a cue-bid of this kind is dropped below game. For example, if West had kept quiet North would have bid only two diamonds, and South would have bid only two spades. North would bid four spades with the actual hand but would bid only three if his hand were slightly weaker. Then South, if his hand also were slightly weaker, might pass.

Very seldom are both partners willing to stop at three of a major, and very seldom does the bidding give them this choice. As a practical matter, the cue-bid in response to a takeout double is almost invariably a force to game.

Courage Needed

At four spades South will win ten or eleven tricks, depending on his courage. Declarer ruffs the second diamond, draws trumps and gives up dummy's queen of clubs to the king. Dummy must ruff the diamond return, and declarer continues with the hearts.

Eventually, declarer leads a low club from dummy and must decide whether to play the ace or finesse with the ten. At rubber bridge South should play the ace to make sure of his contract. At duplicate, South should finesse.

If North had to choose the game, he would probably bid hearts rather than spades. Then he would be in an inferior contract, and the bad trump break might prove disastrous.

Daily Question

You are not vulnerable against vulnerable opponents. Partner deals and bids one diamond, and the next player doubles. You Answer: Bid four diamonds. Always bid the limit when preempting. Give the opponents as big a headache as possible. A courageous player might even make this bid with both sides vulnerable.

Bringing Up Baby.

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

Laughter, they say, is good for the soul. According to some doctors it's good for the body, too, since it relieves tension and stimulates many body functions. Good to know that when you make your baby laugh, you help tone up his whole system.

Question and answer dept. Frequent question asked by first-time mothers: "Why does baby need more than milk the first few months?" While milk is the best-known, almost complete food, it does not supply iron or vitamin C. Both cereals and juices are specially prepared for babies. Hence, Gerber Cereals for the iron and other nutrients they supply. Gerber Juices for the rich source of vitamin C they provide.

Juice time will be joy time when you treat baby to the new Gerber Orange-Apricot Juice. Like all Gerber Juices, it's ever so delicate, with a distinctive flavor all its own. And, one can guess baby over 100% of the recommended daily dietary allowance of vitamin C for infants. For more delightful sipping: Gerber Orange Juice, Apple Juice, Orange-Apple, Apple-Cherry, Orange-Pineapple or Pineapple-Grapefruit.

Talking point: It's never too soon to talk to your baby, since he responds to sounds almost from the very beginning. The more you talk to him the more gleefully he'll talk when he's ready for those first words.

9 stepping stones to strength and growth: Gerber Strained Meats. Made from selected Armour cuts, they're specially processed to remove most of the fat and for utmost protection of nutrients. All are famous for true-meat flavors... make giving baby protein pure pleasure.

Quality Meat Protein is complete protein, supplying all the essential amino acids that help build and rebuild vital body tissues. Gerber Baby Foods, Fremont, Michigan.

GOP Fails to Prove Illegal Fee Claims

Resource Director Says Carley Gave Services as Consultant Without Pay

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer
MADISON — Republican legislators Monday failed in their attempt to show that David Carley, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, was collecting fees for state services in spite of his resignation from the directorship of the state department of resource development.
His successor, Harold Jordahl, said that Carley had been retained as a consultant after retiring and launching his campaign for political office, and would now be collecting fees for consultation, if such an arrangement had not been ruled out by the state department of personnel as a violation of the state civil service law.

Jordahl said Carley is doing some consulting work for the department but he has not collected any money.

Rommel Brings Subject Up
Republican Assemblyman Louis
Rommel of Adams County brought up the subject late in the day at a session of the legislative council's committee studying efficiency and economy problems in state government. Rommel reported that he had received a letter from Jordahl, in response to his inquiry, reporting that Carley had been proposed as a paid consultant, and the personnel bureau had ruled that such a practice would not be approved. But Rommel said he wanted to know whether Carley might be paid later and demanded that Jordahl be brought before the committee to answer questions.

Democratic members of the committee grumbled mildly, but went along with the Republican majority in approving Rommel's motion.

Jordahl flatly declared that "he will not be paid. But he will continue to consult with us, at the request of the executive office."

Nelson Comment
Gov. Nelson, several months ago, in commenting on Carley's resignation to run for office, disclosed that Carley would be used as a consultant on a part-time basis.

Republican legislators were obviously on the trail of a potential campaign issue, as they saw it, but Rommel and the others accepted Jordahl's explanation good-naturedly.

"Is this rate of pay satisfactory?" inquired Assemblyman Huber, Democratic minority leader of the assembly. Rommel laughed.

"There's another campaign issue shot, eh Louie?" jibed Sen.
Leland McParland of Cudahy, veteran Democratic member of the upper house, as the politically divided committee joined in laughter.

Closing of Street Prompts Citizens to Pen Varied Letters

The city is receiving a mixture of complaints and compliments for closing one end of Front street.

The latest complaint was sent to the mayor and common council by LeRoy Schoening Jr., 1339
W. Lawrence Street. He resented the street closing to westbound traffic.

"This provides a private drive to the residents on Front street which will be serviced by the city at public expense," Schoening said.

"I am also of the opinion that the closing of the street was illegal for there was no public hearing before closing," Schoening added. He feels the street should be left open to traffic.

City officials also received a letter from Kenneth S. Dickinson, 741 Front street, praising the action in barricading the street.

The one end of the street was closed to traffic because, according to traffic engineers, it posed a serious safety hazard.

Congress to Probe Merger of Papers

BY SYLVIA PORTER

In mid-January next year a subcommittee of the House Judiciary Committee, headed by Brooklyn's Democratic Representative Emanuel Celler, is scheduled to hold public hearings about the newspaper mergers and consolidations which have been cutting the nation over

Porter

The subcommittee has almost finished a preliminary inquiry with the objective, says Celler, of finding out whether the mergers are creating monopolies which threaten our free press guarantees.

The House Judiciary Committee's attitude is understandable considering the newspaper mergers, consolidations and suspensions which have been making sad headlines in cities from coast to coast in recent years—ranging from Chicago and Detroit to Honolulu and San Francisco, from Pittsburgh and Milwaukee to St. Petersburg and Los Angeles.

But the widespread impression that the newspaper business is shrinking is wrong. It isn't.

More Papers

In 1961 there were 1,761 daily newspapers in the U.S. with a circulation every day of 59,261,464. By contrast in 1945 there were 1,749 daily newspapers with a circulation every day of 48,384,188. Last year there were 358 Sunday newspapers with a circulation on this day alone of 48,216,499. At World War II's end there were 465 Sunday newspapers with a Sunday circulation of 39,860,036.

Newspaper circulation is at a record high, total dollar advertising in newspapers also is at an all-time peak—and these points surely will be emphasized during National Newspaper Week starting next Monday.

But the surface tale is not the whole tale by any means. Beneath the surface are these two fundamental facts:

The first fact is that the mergers-consolidations - suspensions have been concentrated in our biggest cities. Here is where newspapers are in a shuddering cost squeeze consisting both of skyrocketing internal expenses of operation and of fierce competition with each other and with rival communications media for the reader's pennies and the advertiser's dollar.

In every year since World War II, except 1953 and 1959, costs of daily newspapers on average have risen more than revenues, and in 1961, an "Editor & Publisher" study discloses, the chilling ratio was expenses up 1.48 per cent on average, total incomes up only 0.4 per cent.

Shows Figures

But this is a composite average. A breakdown dramatizes the difference between the position of the smaller and the big city papers. Last year, for example, among newspapers with circulations of 25,000 to 50,000, revenues rose 1.44 per cent while costs rose 1.38 per cent. Among newspapers with circulations of over 100,000, revenues rose a tiny 0.02 per cent while costs rose 0.32 per cent.

The second fact is that while the profit pinch has compelled the mergers, consolidations, suspensions in big cities, new newspapers have been springing up in the suburban areas and many suburban newspapers which were weeklies have become dailies.

As just one illustration, within a 50-mile radius of the Los Angeles Long Beach metropolitan area the number of newspapers has climbed from 26 in 1940 to 29 in 1962. But the number of newspapers in the cities of Los Angeles, Long Beach and Hollywood has shrunk from eight in 1940 to five now, while the number of more daily suburban newspapers within the 50-mile radius has risen from 18 to 24.

The whole point can be summarized in a single stark comparison between 1950 and 1959: the weekday circulation of all metropolitan dailies rose 2.6 per cent while the weekday circulation of all suburban dailies (within 50 miles) jumped 21.7 per cent.

There is nothing mysterious about this newspaper circulation has been following the population and so has a lot of newspaper advertising.

"Since average newspapers feed on these two things alone—getting 70-75 per cent of their revenues from advertising, 25-30 per cent from readers—the plight of many of the large city newspapers is only too obvious," says Stanford Smith, general manager of the American Newspaper Publishers' Assn. "Newspapers always will reflect the laws of economics and be published only in places where it is economical, is feasible for them to do so and remain independent."

The House subcommittee may probe, protest, pontificate. It will come to these two fundamentals, in the end—and they suggest the merger-consolidation - suspension trend still has not run its course.

GOP Workers to Hold Luncheon for Wiley Wednesday

United States Sen. Alexander Wiley and Mrs. Wiley will be guests at a luncheon for Outagamie County Republican workers at noon Wednesday at River-view Country Club.

Sen. Wiley's schedule for a day of campaigning in Appleton was released today by Leonard Pasek, 120 N. Green Bay St., County GOP chairman.

Beginning at 8 a.m., Sen. Wiley will tour the Lutheran Aid Association and local mills. He will spend the remainder of the morning campaigning in downtown Appleton.

Following the GOP workers luncheon, the senator will visit with residents of Peabody Manor. Then he will leave for stops in Kaukauna, Oconto, Peshtigo, and Green Bay.

KHS Drama Club Selects Play

KAUKAUNA — "Sunday Costs Five Pesos" has been selected as the last play to be presented in competition this year by the Kaukauna High School Dramatics Club.

Tryouts are being held to select a cast of four girls and one boy. Initial performance will be Oct. 27 before the public, according to Mrs. Howard Sprenger, co-adviser for the club.

Committees will be selected from Drama Club members who volunteered services in helping stage the performance.

UW Center Delegates Attend Conference on International Students

Dexter R. Below, a sophomore at the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center, and Miss Lila Locksmith, adviser to students, attended the second state conference of the U-W People-to-People program in Madison Sunday.

The conference was a follow-up on a governor's conference in the capital last spring to discuss problems that face international students who enter colleges and universities in the state.

People-to-People is an organization that is working on a worldwide basis to promote better international understanding through more person to person contact among peoples of the world.

The general consensus of those who attended the conferences was that definite improvement could be made in the areas of reception and hospitality, housing, employment, and promotion of more contact with international students. The delegates will try to apply these ideas to their specific campus situations.

is located in a multi-family district.

To include four apartment units, the building will be of frame and stone construction. It is being erected by Richard Reetz of 1801 N. Racine Street.

Stolen Credit Card Loss Painful Unless Reported

Sam Speedshift's XYZ gasoline credit card had been stolen, but he did not report the theft.

Four months later the thief was caught and the card was turned over to the XYZ Oil Company.

This was the company's first notice that Sam's credit card had been stolen.

During the four months that the thief had used Sam's card he charged $569 worth of merchandise.

When the oil company sent a bill to Sam for the $569, he refused to pay it.

"You can't charge me for something I never received," he claimed.

"The conditions on the back of the credit card require you to give us notice in case the card is lost or stolen," replied the company. "You failed to give us any notice at all, and therefore you must pay."

Can the XYZ Oil Company hold Sam liable according to the terms and conditions on the back of the credit card?

Yes, said the court. The agreement expressed on the back of the credit card is not unreasonable. Under this agreement the oil company assumed the risk of all loss after it received notice of the loss or theft of the credit card, and the customer assumed the risk of loss prior to such notice.

Unless actual notice is given to the company, it can have no way of knowing of a loss. To require many thousands of dealers to suspect the loss of any particular credit card and use diligence against its abuse is not within the requirements of the oil company as issuer of the credit card.

The holder of a credit card should treat it with at least as much importance as he does his money. Sam failed to do so in this case. He had to pay.

To protect yourself from liability, if your credit card is lost or stolen, it is important that you immediately notify the issuing company in writing of the loss.

(Based upon a recent New York decision.)

Reserve Group To Hear Talks On 32nd Callup

Two officers of the 32nd Division are scheduled to address the Fox Valley Reserve Officers Association sustained from a traffic accident on County Trunk S on the southern limits of Sturgeon Bay at 4:08 p.m. Sunday.

They are Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Stoeckli, and Mr. and Mrs. Harley Joslin. The accident occurred when Stoeckli had stopped his car in order to turn into a driveway. The car was struck in the rear by a tank truck driven by Williams Colombo, Sturgeon Bay.

Colombo told investigating authorities that he skidded on the blacktop and was unable to avoid hitting the car.

tion Tuesday evening at the Elm Tree Bakery, according to president Lt. Dean J. Hewitt, Neenah. They are Maj. Gerald Thielke, Algoma High School principal, who was the plans and training officer on the 32nd Division brigade headquarters staff, and Lt. Col. R. W. Schroeder, Appleton, deputy commander, 1st Battle Group, 127th Infantry.

Maj. Thielke will speak on personnel, training and supply problems encountered during the call-up of the division and on the Army's counter insurgency school, which he attended. Lt. Col. Schroeder will address the group on battle group and company level training at Ft. Lewis, Ft. Irwin and Yakima Firing Center, and also on his experience as an observer of the three-week "Operation Long Thrust" in Berlin earlier this year.

Cured TB Patients
Make Safe Company

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: We are a group of women in a TB sanatorium who would greatly appreciate a column concerning "cured" tuberculosis patients, as to activities and socializing with people when they resume their normal lives.

There are people who are ignorant of the facts, and a few actually embarrass and insult ex-patients through their ignorance. Perhaps a few words from you would enlighten many who are not aware, or are unwilling to admit that we are perfectly safe.

—M.B. AND OTHERS

Sometimes members of the medical and public health professions get downright discouraged. People on occasion have the darndest knack of being stricken deaf if they aren't interested. As when polio vaccine first was available, but people ignored it by the millions—until the outbreak of 1958. Then they scrambled for it. It's the same with TB education. People are deaf to what we say until suddenly they have some personal interest in it. Maybe your very true remark about ex-patients being embarrassed and insulted may make a dent, because people who don't understand TB can, indeed, be insulting without really meaning to be.

Ex-Patient Safer

The truth is that an ex-TB patient is safer to be with, than the average person we meet. For among the average, some percentage of people are bound to be carrying TB that has not yet been recognized. The ex-TB patient, however, not only has been taught how to prevent the spread of TB (covering a cough, etc.) but does not become an "ex-patient" until safe. Only an "active case" can spread the disease—when the lung tissue is loaded with TB germs, which work their way into the sputum and finally are sprayed around by coughing.

5 Examples

There are these five steps in making sure that a patient no longer is harboring active germs:

1—Daily sputum examinations under a microscope. When none is visible, the sputum is cultured to see whether germs still lurk and can multiply. (Animal inoculations sometimes may be added.)

2—Then pooled sputum is tested; that is, tests on sputum collected over, say, a 24-hour period.

3—Gastric lavage, or washing, to test whether the germs are in the stomach.

4—Meantime X-rays must show no sign of active infection.

5—Then, as a final safety measure, discharged patients continue drug treatment six months or more to make sure the germs cannot return.

Ex-Patient is Safe

That's why an ex-patient is so thoroughly safe.

Average treatment of a patient is now about 10 months in a sanatorium, as against two to five years in the early 30's before we had suitable drugs and were not yet able to do the surgery now being done in TB cases. Many used to die; today few do unless they are aged or otherwise infirm, or the case has been neglected for a long time.)

Dear Dr. Molner: I have read where sugar and candy can dull the mind and give indigestion. Is this so?—H.M.

No. Just one of those made-up scare stories such as the old and disproved fable that smoking will "stunt your growth." Tell you what sugar and candy will do, though, if you eat too much. They can make you fat and can be rough on your teeth.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is it wise to have long-haired cats and dogs around asthmatic and arrested TB cases?—B.W.

For tuberculosis, this is not a matter of any significance. For asthmatic cases, it depends on whether the patients are sensitive to animal danders. A few are. (Copyright, 1962)

Clark County
Taxpayers Will Hear G. A. Schulte

Gregory A. Schulte, Appleton, a founder and past president of the Appleton Taxpayers Association and treasurer of Valley Iron Works, will address the Clark County Taxpayers Association on state government and taxes Oct. 24 in Neillsville.

Dr. Sarah Rosenkrans, president of the Clark County group, said Schulte has had "much experience in the capacity of 'watchdog' within the taxpayer movement." She added that the group is studying the need for reorganization of state and local governments.

"I am sure that Mr. Schulte can give us many ideas to consider in our all-out push for economy at all levels of government," said Dr. Rosenkrans.

Student Finds Wife, Nephew Slain in Home

Woman Strangled, Raped; Police Seek 'Skinny Stranger'

DUARTE, Calif. (AP) — Detectives are seeking a tall, skinny stranger as a suspect in the slaying of a young woman and her two-year-old nephew.

Officers said someone apparently entered the Knudsen home Monday while Mrs. Knudsen was cooking breakfast, raped her and then strangled her and the boy.

The Knudsen's 4-month-old daughter, Pamela, was found unconscious in her crib, overcome by smoke from a pan of cereal left burning on the kitchen stove. She was revived and suffered no ill effects.

James Henry Knudsen, 23, a student at Azusa College, found the bodies when he returned home Monday from a morning class. He sobbed as he found the bodies.

The nephew, David Beattie, was dead in bed. Sheriff's deputies said he had bruise marks on his throat. They said he may have been killed because he cried out.

Investigators said Mrs. Knudsen was strangled with a towel. She was found dead in the kitchen, her nightgown in disarray.

A neighbor, Mrs. Ilene Knight, said she saw a "very tall and very skinny" man enter the Knudsen garage about 8 a.m., a half-hour after Knudsen left for classes. She said the man was wearing a khaki-colored shirt with the tail outside the trousers.

Nothing Amiss Mrs. Knight said she thought to work, thinking nothing was amiss. The couple married last year. The workmen said they were caring for the nephew when they arrived about 9:30 a.m. and went to work.

Soblen Had Drug In Secret Pocket Before Suicide

LONDON (AP) — A Scotland Yard detective said today Robert A. Soblen apparently knocked himself into a fatal coma Sept. 6 with a drug hidden in a secret pocket of his trousers.

"I have found no evidence that he was assisted by any person," Superintendent James McKay told an inquest into the fugitive spy's death.

McKay said the drug used was known as litesite and manufactured only in the United States. He added that it was not on sale in retail stores anywhere and that a cellophane packet of the drug found in Soblen's clothing was of a type supplied by manufacturers to doctors as free samples.

Soblen, 61, a New York psychiatrist, collapsed in an ambulance taking him from Brixton Prison to London Airport. He was to have been deported on a New York-bound airliner to face life imprisonment as a spy for the Soviet Union.

Soviets Explode Nuclear Device

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Atomic Energy Commission says the Soviet Union has exploded another nuclear device in the atmosphere over its Arctic testing site.

Monday's test near Novaya Zemlya was described as in the intermediate range with a force equivalent to 20,000 to 1 million tons of TNT. It was the 14th shot announced by the AEC in the current Soviet series.

Longshoremen Back Boycott of Ships With Cargoes for Cuba

NEW YORK (AP) — An East Coast boycott of ship cargoes destined for the Soviet Union or Cuba has been recommended by top officials of the International Longshoremen's Association. A mail vote of the AFL-CIO union's membership was planned.

ILA Vice President Thomas (Teddy) Gleason said the boycott proposal was aimed at eliminating trade with Fidel Castro's government.

ILA locals have conducted sporadic boycotts against individual shipments to the Soviet Union—the latest of them on Sept. 19 when 1,700 crates of chemicals were held up temporarily on a Brooklyn dock.

is one all the nation's railroads have been seeking as a means of ending what the carriers call "featherbedding," their term for unneeded workmen.

Must Give Notice Today's arbitration is likely to have considerable weight in future railroad manpower arguments with other unions.

Garrett also ruled that the railroad must give the union 90 days notice before abolishing a job. This decision, on the length of notice required, was the only one to which both Leighty and Heinemann agreed.

Extra employees should be guaranteed 40 hours a week but this can be reduced by eight hours in any week for any day on which an employee fails to respond to a call for work. The railroad can determine the number of extra employees.

The several hundred telegraphers already laid off by the railroad should not be entitled, both to the layoff benefits recently negotiated and the claims for layoff benefits they have filed as grievances, which are still pending.

'Tide Turning' Against Reds in South Viet Nam

PEARL HARBOR (AP) — The top American military commander in Southeast Asia says that the tide is turning against Communist guerrillas in South Viet Nam.

Gen. Paul D. Harkins, chief of the U.S. forces in Viet Nam, expressed this opinion in a report Monday to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

The two met in Pearl Harbor with Pacific military and diplomatic leaders to discuss America's growing involvement in Asia.

Harkins said U.S. military assistance is beginning to pay off. "The Communist Viet Cong has been slowed and there is growing effectiveness" against insurgents, he said.

This optimistic word was relayed by a source close to McNamara who attended the meeting, which was held behind locked doors and guarded.

Navy Men Also Ban Free Cigarettes in Military Hospitals

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy indicated today it may follow the Air Force's lead in refusing to allow cigarette manufacturers to present gift cigarettes to men in its hospitals.

The Air Force said last Saturday that its surgeon general has declined offers for free distribution of cigarettes in Air Force hospitals "because of the recent evidence which suggests further relation between cigarette smoking and lung cancer, other pulmonary diseases and with certain cardiovascular diseases."

Cigarette firms contend that such research to date is inconclusive.

The Army said it has not taken action like that of the Air Force, "nor is any such action contemplated."

KENOSHA (AP) — A group of companions who organized a search after school Monday found the body of a 13-year-old boy, missing since Sunday, hanging from a tree about 100 yards from his home.

The victim was Thomas Barry Jr., according to Kenosha County Coroner Edward Wavro who said he was investigating the possibility of foul play.

Thomas had been reported missing at 8 a.m. Monday. His parents said they had not seen Republican candidate for lieutenant governor, rode with him.

Brown sent a welcome-to-California wire to Eisenhower, saying that as a Republican leader it was his duty to enter the campaign. In a Fresno telephone Monday night, the governor twitted Nixon for accepting Eisenhower's help after complaining of carpetbaggers when the visitors are Democrats.

President Kennedy, in two visits to the state, has backed Brown. Former President Harry S. Truman and Cabinet officials have put in a pitch for him, too. Kennedy is expected to return in the final week of the campaign to pump for Democratic candidates.

At news conferences in Los Angeles and San Francisco, Eisenhower noted that Democrats hold a 3 to 2 edge in the House and a 2 to 1 majority in the Senate.

Calling attention to Kennedy's campaigns for Democratic congressional seats, he asked, "What does he want? A one-party government?"

Nixon flew to San Francisco with his former boss, then returned to attend the Los Angeles fund-raising dinner.

"It is the big push," he said. "This is the spark that is going to ignite this campaign."

British Reporter Gives New Angle on Loch Ness Monster

By William H. Stoneman, Chicago Daily News Service

LONDON — A new angle on the fabulous Loch Ness monster has been provided by F. A. Holiday, angling correspondent of the Western Mail and one of Britain's most courageous enemies of poaching.

Holiday recently drove up to the Scottish loch to observe organized attempts by several teams of men and women to spot the monster supposed to be inhabiting its depths.

As a result of observations along the shore and talks with the locals, Holiday produced the following report, contained in a letter received today.

Says It's Immoral

Girl Expelled for Not Wearing Shorts

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Judy Bushong, who feels exposing her knees in gym classes is immoral, has been ordered expelled from high school for refusing to wear the bloomer-type shorts used by other girls.

Soon after the township school board voted unanimously Monday night to order Judy expelled if she doesn't comply, the 17-year-old girl said she would never agree to wear shorts because of her religious convictions.

Her father, the Rev. Herbert Bushong, an ordained minister and part-time pastor at the non-denominational church of Soul's Harbor in Waynesburg, near Canton, said: "I pay taxes that go to support the school and my daughter should be allowed to attend. Why should I have to pay tuition and transportation for her to go elsewhere?"

Negro Qualifies As Candidate in Georgia Election

ATLANTA (AP) — An Atlanta Negro attorney, Leroy R. Johnson, has qualified to seek the Democratic nomination to a state Senate seat from Fulton (Atlanta) County in the Oct. 16 primary.

He posted his $500 qualifying fee with party officials Monday. Johnson is believed to be the first of his race to seek a legislative post in Georgia since Reconstruction.

Two white candidates have qualified to oppose Johnson. A second Negro, Dr. Roy Charles Bell, an Atlanta dentist, attempted to qualify for another of the seven Senate seats Fulton has under a recently enacted reapportionment plan. Democratic officials turned him down, however, contending he did not meet length of residency requirements.

Johnson must report to Rieger, today on whether Miss Bushong still refuses to wear shorts. Rieger then may expel her subject to special review by the board. The expulsion motion was offered by board president Norman Ott, who asked board members if any opposed the school policy of shorts for girls in gym classes. None did.

Judy, who also refuses to wear lipstick because "God made my lips the color he wanted them," drew support from three ministers who attended the board meeting.

The Rev. I. D. Swinehart, pastor of the First Wesleyan Methodist church of Akron, and a minister for 35 years, said Judy's modesty was "the universal conviction of all womanhood 30 years ago."

The Rev. B. W. Hale, pastor of the First Wesleyan Methodist church, said Judy had a right under the Constitution to freedom of conscience and could wear what she pleased.

The Rev. F. E. Satterfield of Tallmadge said he questioned whether there ever should be a law to force a woman "to undress before a man more than she desires."

...BEAUTIFULLY

INTRODUCING THE 1963 DODGE

People can't help being carried away by the 1963 Dodge. Who can blame them? Dodge looks like an expensive car. But, it's priced down with other low-price cars. And inside there's room galore! The roofline sweeps straight back instead of sloping off. That means ample headroom in back, not just in front. There's more legroom and footroom, too. The seats are chair-high whether you choose a model with sofa style, buckets, or fold-down center arm rest in front. Plus, you get the most luxurious interiors in the field, a smooth torsion-bar ride, a thrifty Six or quick, slick V8. Little wonder, people get carried away... especially now that every Dodge is backed by a revolutionary 5-year/50,000-mile warranty! See your Dodge Dealer.

8TH DISTRICT, WISCONSIN
HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
WASHINGTON 25, D.C.

COMMITTEE ON WAYS AND MEANS
JOINT COMMITTEE ON INTERNAL REVENUE TAXATION
CHAIRMAN, REPUBLICAN POLICY COMMITTEE
Washington, D. C.
October 9, 1962

TO THE PEOPLE OF OUTAGAMIE COUNTY:

I deeply regret my inability to fulfill campaign appearances scheduled for Outagamie County today.

Those commitments were made in good faith, with every expectation that Congress would long since have adjourned.

When the Democrat leadership failed to meet its latest adjournment target last weekend, however, I had no choice but to remain here to attend sessions this week. I will, of course, stay on the job as long as there is business before the Congress. As your representative, that is my first responsibility.

I must express to you my concern that the Party in power is unable to manage the business of the Congress in an expeditious manner. The Congress could have completed its business long ago. Its failure to do so in inexcusable.

This is an election year. We depend, under our form of government, upon political campaigns to inform us and make easier our choice in the Congressional elections. When the Party in power, either through design or incompetence, so neglects its responsibilities that Congressional campaigns must be drastically limited, then the American people are its victims.

I pledge that I will endeavor to conduct a complete discussion of the issues in the short time that will remain after Congress adjourns, and that I will spend as much time as possible in Outagamie County consistent with my duty to campaign in the other eight counties of our District.

Sincerely,

John W. Byrnes

Outagamie May Get First County - Wide Siren System in U. S.

Board Approves Project Which May be Ready in Four Months

Approval of a plan which could lead to the first county-wide civil defense siren warning system in the nation was granted today by the Outagamie County Board of Supervisors.

County Civil Defense Director Lee Penney said the system will cost $68,000 of which $34,000 will be in matching federal funds. He estimated the program could be in operation in four months.

Approval today by the county board authorized Penney and the executive committee to submit the county-wide plan to state and federal agencies for approval.

The system will include 14 large siren warning devices and 13 smaller units. Eight large units would be established at various locations in the city of Appleton. Other units would be spread throughout village and townships in Outagamie County.

No Voice Each large unit will cost $3,300 and the smaller units $1,500 each. Penney said that a third size unit, a still smaller one, could be used by municipalities which do not receive a loud enough warning. The Trunk E and State 57 three miles north of here. Involved were cars driven by Lee G. Ness, 21, De-Pere, and George M. Neitzer, 20, route 1, Menasha.

Both vehicles were southbound, police said, and the Ness car slammed into the rear of the Neitzer vehicle when Neitzer slowed to turn off the highway.

Ness and a passenger, Robert Doern, 18, route 2, Chilton, both suffered nose fractures in the crash. They were treated at Calumet Memorial Hospital and released.

Ness was fined $35 in Calumet County Court Monday after pleading guilty of inattentive driving. The charge stemmed from the accident.

Mrs. Wayne Bouchard, route 2, Hilbert, suffered back injuries when the car driven by her husband, Wayne, 23, left a Town of Chilton road a mile north of Brant about 9 p.m. Sunday.

Bouchard told police he slammed on his brakes when a concrete bridge abutment loomed ahead of him and lost control of the car. The vehicle missed the abutment but went into the ditch and through a fence. Bouchard was traveling west. His wife was advised to see a doctor.

Extended School Year Seen As Possibility in Appleton

Board of Education Is Told New Programs May Force Move

Assistant Superintendent of Schools William H. Spears Monday told Appleton Board of Education members changes and additions being considered in Appleton schools may lead to an extended school year.

Stronger programs in science, modern foreign languages and music are needed at the junior high level, he said. "I don't see how we can do all of this in the regular school year."

Board members asked if the curriculum committees were studying the possibility of taking things out as well as of adding classes.

Must Pick, Choose We have to pick and choose from both a monetary and a time standpoint, Franklin Neils said, and it probably will fall upon the board to make some selection.

Curriculum studies now are being conducted in music, mathematics, art, communicative arts, social studies, modern foreign language and science. Spears told the board some 135 of the 175 elementary teachers are serving on curriculum committees.

The curriculum studies raise other problems, he noted, such as the length of the school day and the need for physical facilities for certain courses.

A major investigation being started this year is a two-year study of the communicative arts program. This will include consideration of a basic reading program that will carry beyond the sixth grade for those who need it, he said, and may include establishing reading laboratories in the junior and senior high schools.

Asks Another Language Another modern foreign language, in addition to French, should be offered in seventh and eighth grade. Spears added, and the languages should be offered every day as regularly scheduled classes. French now is offered two or three times a week, and this is not enough, he said.

We also must ask if we are allowing enough time for the teacher to do a good job, Spears said, taking the elementary French program as an example. It must be followed up with a substantial program in junior high school or we might as well not have an elementary French program, he said. "It has got to be more than just a veneer."

Spears called the junior high school science program "a 50 percent program." Teachers would like to see science offered every day in seventh, eighth and ninth grades instead of one semester a year, he said. "We are using only half of what is recommended as a good basic science program."

Music Program The music program needs considerable strengthening, he continued, and general music should be a required subject rather than an elective in seventh and eighth grades.

Spears said an algebra aptitude test had been instituted this fall for eighth graders taking algebra and for ninth graders taking general mathematics or algebra. The test showed that many pupils who have the aptitude for algebra are not taking it, he said, and have been transferred to algebra classes.

In one general mathematics class, every pupil had a high enough score to show an aptitude for algebra, he said, "so we picked up the general mathematics books and passed out algebra books."

Appleton Board Estimates Summer School Expenses Tentative cost for the 1963 summer school program in Appleton is $26,400, the Appleton Board of Education learned Monday.

This includes $10,800 for five classes in elementary subjects, $6,600 for classes in seven junior high school subjects, and $9,000 for classes in nine senior high school subjects.

The estimated enrollment will be 1,280, including 530 elementary pupils, with 18 teachers, 370 junior high pupils, with 11 teachers, and 380 senior high pupils, with 15 teachers.

About 1,333 pupils enrolled in the 1962 summer school program.

Brown County Seeks Review of Air Space Ruling

GREEN BAY — The county board airport committee today asked the state's two senators and Rep. John Byrnes to seek a review or reversal of a federal decision granting air space to the proposed new Outagamie County airport.

The committee's position was stated in letters mailed to Sen. William Proxmire, Sen. Alexander Wiley, and Byrnes in protest of a finding of the air space section of the Federal Aviation Agency. The decision grants the new airport air space for both visual and eventual instrument traffic.

In sending the letters, the committee has asked for a reversal of the FAA decision on the $6 million local investment in the airport, and a federal investment in the airport. Any federal investment at a third airport would be needless expenditure, the letter said.

The committee also noted that the FAA findings for air space said the new airport's location was "undesirable" for instrument traffic but that traffic procedure changes could be made.

The board 45 to 7, after Supv. Mark Catlin airport committee chairman, urged its adoption and in recognizing the other long-service employees.

The 20 Kimberly employees who completed 25 years of service during 1962 include Adrian Vander Zanden, Orville G. Fleming, George A. Miller, Richard S. DeBruin, Joseph T. DeWitt, Carlton L. Voss, Harry P. Wulterkens, Stanley A. Berndt, Wilbur Van Lankvelt, Ernest J. Versteeg, Anthony J. Janssen, Alfred J. LaDuke, Norman W. Horn, Elmer A. Kobs, Cyril Van Himbergen, Peter Van Sambeek Jr., Urban G. Wildenberg, Elmer J. Vander Velden, John M. Van Lueshout, and Conrad T. Wulterkens.

The committee, made up of five supervisors, will be appointed by the executive committee. Each member will serve throughout his terms. Alvin Fulcer, Outagamie County board chairman, said the five men to fill the positions will be named when the executive committee meets this month.

The committee will be used as a fact-finding body to survey problems involving wages, working conditions, and hours of all 300 county employees.

Excluded from the committee will be members of the county's highway committee and the civil service committee. The creation of county personnel committees was urged in state legislation in 1961.

Appleton Offered 11 Acres of Land For Park Addition

An Appleton real estate firm has offered to sell 11 acres of land to the City of Appleton for the expansion of Hoover Park on the city's far southside.

DuChateau Real Estate, in a letter to the mayor and common council put a price tag of $65,000 on the 11 acres.

Should the city not be interested in acquiring all the land, that portion south of the extension of Tatt Street would be offered for $37,000.

The committee also noted that the FAA findings for air space said the new airport's location was "undesirable" for instrument traffic but that traffic procedure changes could be made.

The board 45 to 7, after Supv. Mark Catlin airport committee chairman, urged its adoption and in recognizing the other long-service employees.

The 20 Kimberly employees who completed 25 years of service during 1962 include Adrian Vander Zanden, Orville G. Fleming, George A. Miller, Richard S. DeBruin, Joseph T. DeWitt, Carlton L. Voss, Harry P. Wulterkens, Stanley A. Berndt, Wilbur Van Lankvelt, Ernest J. Versteeg, Anthony J. Janssen, Alfred J. LaDuke, Norman W. Horn, Elmer A. Kobs, Cyril Van Himbergen, Peter Van Sambeek Jr., Urban G. Wildenberg, Elmer J. Vander Velden, John M. Van Lueshout, and Conrad T. Wulterkens.

The committee, made up of five supervisors, will be appointed by the executive committee. Each member will serve throughout his terms. Alvin Fulcer, Outagamie County board chairman, said the five men to fill the positions will be named when the executive committee meets this month.

The committee will be used as a fact-finding body to survey problems involving wages, working conditions, and hours of all 300 county employees.

Excluded from the committee will be members of the county's highway committee and the civil service committee. The creation of county personnel committees was urged in state legislation in 1961.

Man Gets Probation For Shoplifting Richard Schmidt, 37, 842 Fifth St., Menasha, was placed on probation for one year to the state welfare department when he appeared Monday in Outagamie County Court, Branch 2, for shoplifting.

Schmidt was arrested by sheriff's department investigators when he took $86 in merchandise Sept. 21 at the Treasure Island Shopping Center. Schmidt pleaded guilty when he appeared Sept. 24 County Judge Gustave Keller ordered a presentence investigation and Gilbert Paper Company. His property bond.

Quality Control Group To Discuss Wire Life "Application of Statistics in Wire Life Determination" will be subject of an after dinner meeting of the Winnebago Chapter of the American Society for Quality Control at 6:30 p.m. Oct. 15, at the day informing it that the district has been classified to receive aids on the integrated level (the high level for state aids).

The new Quarter Century Club members and those employees who this year complete 30, 35, 40, 45 or 50 years of service will attend the gathering with their guests. Pins inscribed with the years of service and savings bonds will go to those long-service employees.

Music Teachers Will Meet at St. Norbert

St. Joseph Choir From Appleton to Present Program

DE PERE — Music teachers from around the state will gather at St. Norbert College, West De Pere, next Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, for the annual conference of the Wisconsin Music Teachers Association.

One of the main features of the W.M.T.A. conference, according to Norbert Ecker, chairman of the St. Norbert College music department, will be the public piano recital Sunday evening at 8:15 p.m. by Bela Nagy, of Indiana University, currently on leave to Boston University.

Also featured during the three-day conference will be the St. Norbert College Chamber Singers, the St. Joseph School boys choir, of Appleton, the Piano Quartet of the Central State College at Stevens Point, the Beloit Madrigal Singers and other individual performers.

Opening the conference will be a presentation at 4 p.m. Sunday by the St. Joseph School boys choir, directed by Francis Scholtz. The same program will feature the Piano Quartet, playing the Brahms Quartet.

At 6 p.m. Sunday the Beloit College Madrigal Singers will sing in the Memorial Union Cafeteria for a buffet supper.

Monday's program will include two addresses by Nagy, programs by David Murray, bariitone, of the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, and Howard Dill, tenor from Northern Illinois University, DeKalb, Ill.; a demonstration-lecture on the electronic organ by Sterling Anderson of Wausau; a recital by Robert Lodi, organist of St. Chrysostom Church, Chicago, and a group of mass and office chants by the Schola Cantorum with the Rev. Robert Olson, cantor.

Guy Duckworth of Northwestern University will conduct the general session Tuesday morning on "Class Piano Teaching." The St. Norbert Chamber Singers, conducted by Dudley Birder, associate professor of music at St. Norbert, will present a program Tuesday.

New School District Areas Raise Tax Levy $208,955

More than half of the requested $208,955. The school tax levy hike in the 1963 school tax levy is up $408,341 over the 1962 levy.

Kurtz estimated costs for the attached areas by multiplying total enrollment from the areas by the average per pupil cost in the Appleton school system for 1963.

He deducted from the total cost the amount of tuition for 1962 that will be paid in 1963 by the attached areas, to come up with the $208,955 figure.

The board had requested an estimate of the impact on the 1963 budget of the attachments before the budget is presented to the common council. The 1963 budget has jumped $512,604 over the 1962 budget.

Final figures for the 1963 school budget show expenses of $3,945,229, anticipated income other than the tax levy of $723,969, and a tax levy request of $3,221,260.

GAO Reports Army Bought Nike Hercules Parts It Didn't Need

WASHINGTON (AP) — The General Accounting Office has accused the Army of buying $800,000 worth of Nike Hercules missile parts it didn't need, then ordering another $1.9 million worth.

The watchdog agency told Congress Monday the excesses could be blamed on what it called the Army's lack of effective supply controls.

The GAO report dealt with Army purchases and orders for three parts of the Nike Hercules guidance system between April 1958, and March 1961.

Although the Army reviewed its purchases of the missile parts about a year ago and said the oversupply had been reduced, the GAO said "the excess of actual and proposed procurement still totaled about $2.6 million in December 1961."

Chiang Promises to Lead Invading Forces

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—President Chiang Kai-shek said again today he will personally lead his Chinese Nationalist armed forces in a return to the Communist-held mainland.

3 Sophomores Dominate UW Ground Gains

Milt Bruhn Says Badger Depth Wore Down Indiana '11'

MADISON (AP) — Wisconsin football coach Milt Bruhn has emphasized the youth of his squad, and the performance charts confirm that so far it has been an asset.

Bruhn told the quarterback club of Chicago's American Monday that "we've got 20 sophomores on our traveling squad," and added, "It's a young team and it makes mistakes."

In defeating Indiana 30-6 last Saturday in the Big Ten opener for both schools, Bruhn said, "We just wore them down because we have better depth."

The meeting also heard from Purdue Coach Jack Mollenkopf, whose Boilermakers took a 24-6 victory over Notre Dame, the Badger opponent next Saturday.

"I think Notre Dame never will be the great dominating national power that it was several years ago," Mollenkopf said. They aren't getting the big numbers of fine players they once did. (Former Coach Frank) Leahy at times had as many as 45 real good players. Then, too, other schools probably are recruiting more."

Suffered A Cut

While Bruhn visited, the Badgers went through a loosening up drill, with only Co-Capt. Steve Underwood showing any marks from the Indiana clash. The big lineman suffered a cut on the forehead but will be ready for the Irish.

Classy end Pat Richter is the only veteran holding a high place in Badger statistics furnished by the Athletic Department. Three sophomores — led by fullback Ralph Kurek — dominate the rushing figures.

Kurek, a 200-pounder from Watertown, has gained 127 yards on 11 carries for a rushing average of 11.5 yards.

Halfback Ron Smith is next in line with 111 yards in 17 attempts for a 5.9 yard average and another halfback, Carl Silvestri, is third with 89 yards in nine carries for an average of 9.9 yards. Richter, a 6-foot-6 senior end, has grabbed eight passes for 130 yards, and he leads the squad in punting with an average of 40.8 yards on six kicks.

Leading the list of passers is senior Ron Vande Kelen who has completed 12 of 18 aerials for 146 yards and two touchdowns without an interception. Second is Harold Brandt with eight completions in 15 attempts for 126 yards. One of the tosses by the left-handed sophomore has been intercepted.

Rebuilding Job Paying Off

McPeak Says Snead Called Best Game of His Career Against Rams

WASHINGTON (AP)—A young coach, a young team and a young quarterback have brought new life to the Washington Redskins.

Already the Redskins have won more games than the total of two they won in both 1960 and 1961. And they lead the Eastern Division of the National Football League with three wins, one tie and no defeats.

Boss man Bill McPeak, youngest coach in the NFL, has done a quick rebuilding job in less than two seasons. Only 10 players remain from the squad he took over at the end of the 1960 season.

At 36, McPeak is a few months younger than Norm Van Brocklin of the Minnesota Vikings. Although it's only his second year as head coach, McPeak is a 15-year veteran of the NFL. He has been an all-pro defensive end with Pittsburgh and served as assistant coach at Pittsburgh and Washington.

Almost completely bald, what few hairs McPeak had began to turn gray last fall as his team stumbled to one victory, one tie and 12 defeats. But he refused to panic and remained calmly confident in his rebuilding program.

Six Are Rookies
Twenty members of the Redskins squad have fewer than three seasons of pro experience. Six are rookies, eight are second year players and six are in their third season in the NFL. Average age 26.1.

All Eyes Are Fixed on Chuck Hiller's grand slam drive into the right field seats in Monday's fourth game of the World Series. The blow came in the seventh inning and gave the Giants a 6-2 lead. The umpire is Jim Honochick and the catcher is Elston Howard, of the New York Yankees. The Giants won the game, 7-3. (AP Wirephoto)

Hiller's 'Slam' First Ever by National Leaguer in Series

Chuck Used Billy Pierce's Bat for Blow

BY JIM BECKER

NEW YORK (AP) — "I hit it pretty good—for me."

That was Chuck Hiller's description of his grand slam home run in the fourth game of the World Series that gave the San Francisco Giants a 7-3 victory over the New York Yankees and evened the series at two games apiece.

"When I hit it I thought it might go out, but I hit so few . . . I couldn't be sure."

Hiller, who struck out with the bases loaded in the fifth, earned the hero's role in the seventh inning when he turned the Yankees' own weapon on them.

The blast into the right field seats, which came with two out and the score tied 2-2, was the first homer with the bases loaded ever hit by a National leaguer in a World Series—and only the second hit by a non-Yankee.

Elmer Smith of Cleveland in 1920 hit the first series grand slam, followed by Yankees Tony Lazzari, Gil McDougald, Mickey Mantle, Yogi Berra, Bill Skowron and Bobby Richardson, who hit the last previous one in 1960.

"In all my life, majors, minors or any place, I never hit a grand slam home run before," Hiller said. He hit only three homers during the regular season and only five in the majors before.

The blow by the left-handed hitting Hiller came off Marshall Bridges, left-handed relief pitcher of the Yankees.

"I thought he would throw a fast ball," Hiller said, "and I was hoping he would. It was a bad throw."

Strategy Backfired, But Houk Says He'd Do It Same Way Again

Second Guessers Question Lifting of Ford for Pinch-Hitter

BY WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP)—It's the bottom of the sixth inning, score tied 2-2, two out, two men on base and the team's ace pitcher scheduled to come to bat.

What do you do? Do you go for broke by yanking the pitcher for a pinch hitter or do you play it close to the vest and stick to your old reliable?

Manager Ralph Houk of the New York Yankees, faced with this situation Monday, chose attack over defense. The strategy backfired and the San Francisco Giants went on to win the fourth game of the World Series at Yankee Stadium 7-3 and tie the Classic at two games each.

This turned the Yankee skipper into open game for the second guessers, who insisted the defeat of the world champions would never have happened if Houk had stuck with Whitey Ford, who has started in a record 18 World Series games and won 10 of them. You may second guess Houk if you please but the Yankee manager steadfastly refuses to second guess himself.

"I saw a chance to break open the game," he said afterward. "I would do the same thing tomorrow."

Just Tied It Up

This was the situation: The Giants had taken a 2-0 lead in the second inning on a two-run homer by catcher Tom Haller and the Yankees had just tied it up in the sixth on walks to Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris and a couple of sharp singles by Bill Skowron and Cleo Boyer.

Now Skowron and Boyer were on base with two out and the next man in the batting order was the pitcher, Ford, who had given up only five hits in six innings and who the inning before had put down three big Giants — Willie Mays, Felipe Alou and Orlando Cepeda—in 1-2-3 order.

A muffled gasp went through Stadium when Houk yanked Ford and sent Yogi Berra into his 74th World Series game as a pinch hitter.

Berra walked, filling the bases. Tony Kubek then grounded out down the first line, ending the threat.

Moments later, in the top of the seventh inning, Jim Coates, relieving Ford, walked San Francisco's Jim Davenport, struck out Haller and gave up a double to Matty Alou, pinch hitting for shortstop Jose Pagan.

Houk brought in his top reliever, Marshall Bridges, who intentionally walked Bob Nieman to fill the bases and then forced Harvey Kuenn to pop up to second base for the second out.

Houk and Al Dark Predict Series Will Go 7 Games

Giant Pilot Forced to Change Plan

BY JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Managers Ralph Houk of New York and Alvin Dark of San Francisco agreed today that the World Series, now even at two victories apiece, would go the limit of seven games.

Of course, the rival skippers disagreed on the winner.

Although the Giants pulled even Monday with a 7-3 victory in the fourth game, in which the brilliant Whitey Ford was lifted after six innings, Houk said he wasn't worried. He said he planned no changes in the line-up and confirmed that Ralph Terry, his 23-game winning right-hander, would be the pitcher.

Dark's choice was Jack Sanford, the 24-game winning right-hander who defeated Terry 2-0 with a three-hitter in the second game of the series.

"I'm not worried about the way our boys are hitting," said Houk whose team was held to nine hits by four Giant pitchers Monday and has hit only one home run in four games. "We're hitting the ball, all right, but not to the right places."

"Naturally, I expect Terry to win today. Then all we'd have to do is split in San Francisco. We've always been able to play .500 or better on the road and I see no reason why we can't continue."

Just As Optimistic

Dark was just as optimistic. He pointed out he had predicted as far back as three weeks ago that a Giant-Yankee World Series would go the limit. At the time the Giants were four games behind Los Angeles with only nine games left to play.

"I told one of my players (Jose Pagan) that we had 19 more games to play," Dark said, "nine in the regular schedule, three in the playoffs and seven in the World Series. Naturally, I still feel that way and I think we'll win."

Dark had planned to pitch Billy

Ohio State Slips From First to 10th in AP Poll

BY ED CORRIGAN

Associated Press Sports Writer

Defending national champion Alabama shot back into the No. 1 position in the weekly Associated Press college football poll today while Ohio State tumbled all the way down to No. 10.

The Crimson Tide, replaced by Ohio State a week ago, compiled 345 points to outdistance Texas, in the No. 2 spot, and Penn State, which moved up to No. 3. Texas had 422 points and Penn State, which turned back Rice 18-7, had 321.

The points are compiled on a basis of 10 for a first place, 9 for a second and so on down the line. A nationwide panel of sports writers and sportscasters voted.

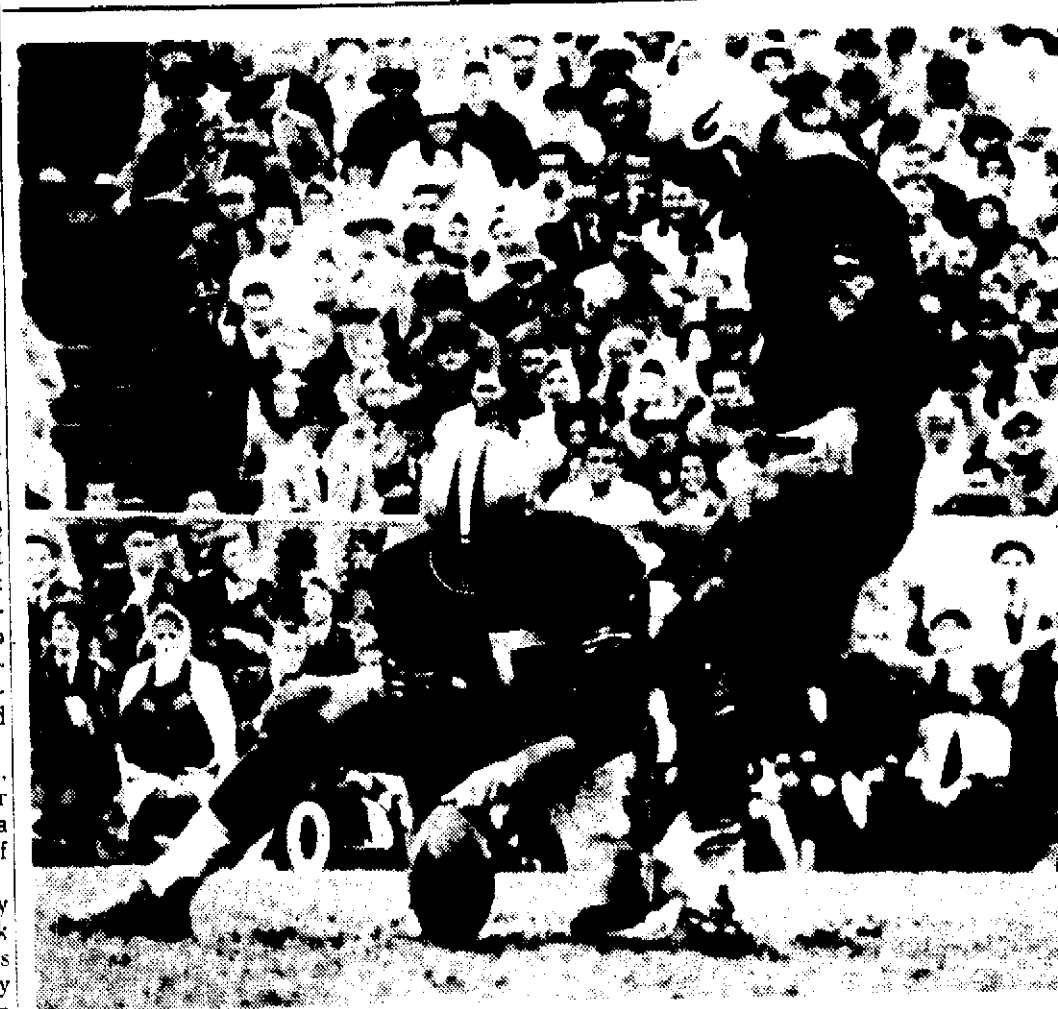

Texas, which crushed Tulane last week, 35-8, actually was the only club to give Alabama a run. The Crimson Tide compiled 23 first place votes to 20 for Texas. Alabama had a tough time beating Vanderbilt, 17-7.

Southern Cal Fourth

Following the top three, in order, came Southern California, No. 4; Mississippi, No. 5; Louisiana State, No. 6; Washington, No. 7; Arkansas, No. 8; Purdue, No. 9 and Ohio State, No. 10.

The Buckeyes, beaten by UCLA, 9-7, dropped nine places. But even worse, Georgia Tech, Miami (Fla.) and Army, toppled clear out of the top ten. Georgia Tech was beaten by Louisiana State 10-7 and Army lost a 17-7 decision to Michigan. Miami whipped Florida State 7-6 yet dropped out of the select list.

Others receiving votes: Georgia Tech, UCLA, Wisconsin, Miami (Fla.), West Virginia, Nebraska, Northwestern, Oregon, Michigan State, Missouri, Minnesota, Duke, Utah State, Maryland, Pittsburgh, Kansas.

Lombardi Refuses to Look Back, Is Only Concerned With Vikings

told Monday how tough he considered the Detroit Lions as he explained why he didn't use halfback Elijah Pitts on offense.

Pitts had been a small running sensation against the Chicago Bears a week earlier but didn't once carry the ball as the Packers came up with a breath-stopping finish to beat the Lions 9-7 Sunday in a clash of the National Football League's only undefeated and untied teams.

"The Lions would have eaten him for breakfast," Lombardi said. "As it was Taylor and Hornung were fighting for their lives."

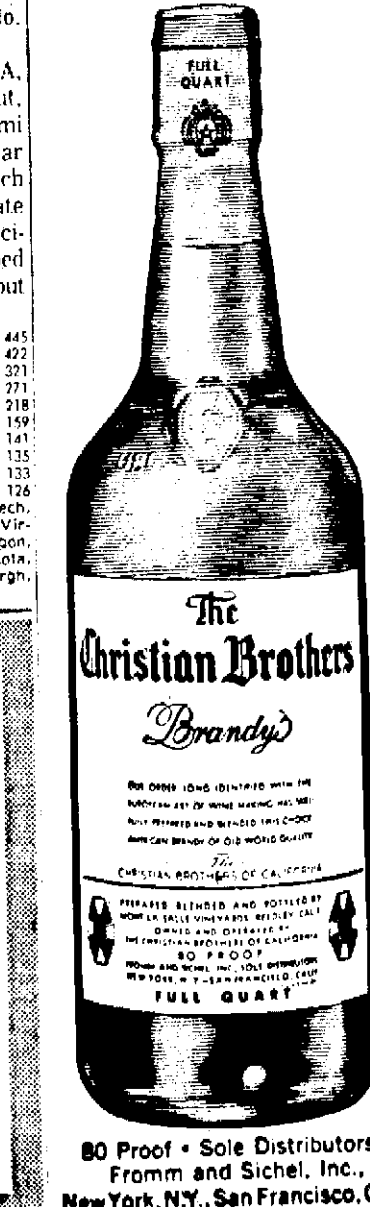

They made a great fight of it, halfback Paul Hornung booting his third field goal with 33 seconds remaining to pull out the victory and fullback Jim Taylor crashing for 95 yards despite a

Chuck Bayer Hits 690 Aggregate in Builders' League

Vic Hellestad Pounds 277 Line To Pace Brotherhood Circuit

Chuck Bayer came within 10 pins of a national honor count 3 when he slammed a 690 series in the Builders' League at Hahn's Monday night.

Bayer slammed games of 255 and 231 while getting the high set which ranks as the second best of the season at Appleton lanes.

Bayer led his Apo team to a 3-game sweep to put them in first place with a 12-3 record. Valley Ready Mix had a high team game of 1128.

Other honor scores included: Dude Hahn, 23-618; Cully Fredricks, 573; Lew Cattanaich, 551; Carl Lella, 587; Earl Heinritz, 541; Sam Nersveen, 533; Carl Heinritz, 232-631; Wally Mantouf, 226-601; Ken Bastian, 559; Jerry Rasmussen, 530; Joe Rorische, 584; Slim Otto, 241; Butch Schultz, 595 and Karl Zimmerman, 561.

Best Singleton

Vic Hellestad pounded a 277 game, best singleton of the season locally, and a 624 series to take individual honors in the Brotherhood League at Hahn's Monday night. Vic had two spares and 10 strikes in a row.

Heinritz, Sheet Metal (11-4) leads the league.

Other honor scores included Stan Roeder, 577; Mel Moody, 567; Doug Bahr, 561; and Bob Stevens, 552.

Ed Siedschlag pounded a 226 game and 536 series to set the pace in the Craftsmen's League at the 41 Bowl Monday night. It was the only honor score in the circuit.

pitch, for him. It came right over the plate.

In the pandemonium of the Giant dressing room, Hiller was asked if he thought about hitting a home run when he advanced to the plate.

"I used Billy Pierce's bat," he explained. "It's lighter, about 31 ounces, than mine which is 33. I use a lot of different bats. It doesn't do much good."

Hiller, who turned 27 on Oct. 1, is a modest youth whose hair is already departing, both in front and on top. He looks as little like a ball player as anyone on the Giant club.

"Nobody knows me on the streets," he said. "Oh, sometimes, when I'm going down the street somebody will recognize me, but it's not like the other fellows on the team."

Hiller made a genius out of Manager Alvin Dark this season, and stumped the baseball experts, who had insisted that he wouldn't hit.

The shy young second baseman had failed in a shot at the job in 1961, and went back to the minors with a .238 average. This year, Dark told him he had the job, despite what he had read, and he hit .275.

Picked Up in Draft

The Giants picked up Hiller in the draft before the 1959 season, after he hit .339 for Minot in the Northern League. He led the Texas League with .384 in 1960.

The Cleveland Indians signed him for a small bonus in 1956, fresh off the campus of St. Thomas College in St. Paul, Minn. He lives in Chicago now, with his wife, Pamela, and five-year-old daughter. His wife was in the stands when he hit the dramatic homer.

Dark had sometimes pinch hit for Hiller against left handed pitchers during the season, and sent Willie McCovey to bat for him in the ninth inning of the last playoff game against Los Angeles for the National League pennant.

McCovey walked and the Giants rallied to win the game and the pennant.

"I was sure glad Dark didn't pinch hit for me this time," he said.

What were Hiller's thoughts as he circled the bases?

"I was just happy to get back to the bench. I didn't even see the ball go into the stands. There were two out and I was running gets us a new manager, let's go hard, on from here. There's no use talking about what happened in the past."

Mike Tresh Enjoys Watching Son Play With M and M Boys

BY JOHN P. CARMICHAEL
Chicago Daily News Service

NEW YORK — Mike Tresh's face was a wreath of smiles. Old friends and associates stopped to shake hands in the foyer of Yankee Stadium, where Mike's son, Tom, is the first-string outfielder for the pennant winners, playing alongside of Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris.

"I'm enjoying it every minute," said the former White Sox catcher. "I've been out of baseball almost 12 years, but this is the best way to relieve it."

"He's a good kid. I remember when he first began to read. I stopped talking about my major league record."

In this, Tom's initial big-league season, he hit 20 homers and batted .286, driving in 83 runs. He was batting about .275 in Houk made the change of Tresh August when manager Ralph Houk from short so he could play Tony Kubek there.

"It's all right with me," Mike remembers Tom writing home, "because that's not a bad figure for a shortstop, but will they like it as an outfielder?"

Good Hands

The Yankees do and they will. "The kid has good hands and he's quick," explained Houk, "but I didn't think he has the immediate range of Kubek at short."

"I liked what I saw of him in the outfield. Some of the boys say he reminds me a little of Tommy Henrich, who played with Charlie Keller and Joe DiMaggio. 'Tom has fine speed. He can break good and, while I hope the day will never come, I think he'd make a great center fielder.'"

It was a fine tribute to both Mantle's present and Tom's future.

It also is something of a tribute to Yankee incognito that they came up so often with just the man they need.

Tom Tresh didn't cost too much, maybe $30,000. "We wanted him," said Houk, "and I understand that our men made that clear to his father."

3 UW Gridders Tied for Second In Big 10 Scoring

CHICAGO (AP)—Northwestern fullback Bill Swingle has taken an early lead in the Big Ten football scoring race.

And as could be expected, three Wisconsin players are among those tied for second place.

Swingle has scored 22 of Northwestern's 82 points.

Wisconsin has scored 99 points and Ralph Kurek, Lou Holland and Pat Richter have 18 each.

Also tied with this trio is Ron Rubick of Michigan State, who scored three touchdowns against North Carolina.

The leaders:

	T	PAT	FG	Total
Swingle, Northwestern	3	4	0	22
Kurek, Wisconsin	3	0	0	18
Holland, Wisconsin	3	0	0	18
Richter, Wisconsin	3	0	0	18
Rubick, Michigan State	3	0	0	18

Houk Says He Would Do Same Again

to get Kuenn," Houk said. "He was the man I was worried about. I felt great when Kuenn popped out."

But the next batter, a mild little second baseman named Chuck Hiller who had hit only three homers runs all season, lashed a 1-1 pitch into the right field seats for the eighth grand slam home run in World Series history, the first by a National Leaguer.

That was the ball game, although both the Giants and Yankees added single runs in the ninth.

"I made the decision strictly on my own," Houk said. "Whitey didn't tell me he wanted to be taken out."

"He did tell me he didn't have very good stuff. That was enough for me. Even if he had said he had good stuff, I think I still would have gone to a pinch hitter. Here's a chance to win the game — you've got to take it."

"Besides, I knew my relief pitchers (Coates and Bridges) were well rested and ready."

Houk undoubtedly was guided by the season's experiences in making his decision.

Ford, 34, has been inclined to live in the latter part of ball games. Of the 37 games he started during the regular campaign, he finished only seven. In the other 30, he needed help. Coates, with a good World Series record is the Yankees' top middle reliever. Bridges has been the team's fireman, putting down rallies in the late innings.

Unusual Angle

There was one unusual angle to Houk's strategy. In the fifth inning, the first two men up, Skowron and Boyer, singled. Ford came to bat with two men on and none out, going out on a fielder's choice.

Why didn't Houk pinch hit for Whitey then?

"I never pinch hit for my best pitcher in the fifth inning," he said.

The Yankee manager had one strong supporter in his handling of the day's situation — Whitey Ford himself.

"I felt okay," the Yankee left-hander said, "but if I had been the manager, I'd have done just what Houk did."

Hawkeye QB, Szykowny, Has Torn Ligament

Wildcats Hold Anti-Fumble Drill After 10 Bobbles

CHICAGO (AP)—Midwest football briefs:

Iowa — The Hawkeyes opened drills for the Indiana game with the availability of quarterback Matt Szykowny still in doubt. Szykowny suffered a torn ligament in the knee against Southern California, but was expected to be ready by midweek. Sophomores Bob Wallace and Fred Riddle will be ready just in case.

Indiana — Fundamentals kept the Hoosiers busy. "We made too many critical errors," said Coach Phil Dickens in reference to the 30-6 loss at Wisconsin.

Purdue—Left end Don Brooks suffered a knee injury in the Notre Dame victory, but otherwise the Boilermakers were in top shape as they opened drills for the Miami of Ohio game.

Ohio State—Coach Woody Hayes says the 9-7 loss to UCLA was the "best game we ever played in a losing cause." Hayes added "we wore ourselves out going up and down the field." The Buckeyes went through a light workout.

Minnesota—Four players from the first two units were nursing injuries. They include tackle Bobby Bell, tackle Milt Sundt, guard Willie Costanza and quarterback Paul Ramsey. All will be ready Saturday.

Northwestern — The Wildcats went through an anti-fumble drill in preparing for the Minnesota game. Despite all their scoring, the Wildcats have fumbled 10 times in their first two games.

Illinois — Numerous changes were made in Illinois top units following the 45-0 loss to Northwestern. Sophomore Bill Minor was switched from end to tackle while guard Archie Sutton, end Lynn Stewart and halfback Cecil Young were promoted to the first team.

Michigan—The Wolverines will stick to the three-unit attack which helped defeat Army 17-7 when they meet Michigan State. The players listened to scouting reports and watched movies of MSU's 38-6 victory Saturday.

Michigan State—Practice for the Spartans was closed to everyone but team members. Coach Coach Duffy Daugherty termed the Michigan game the most important of the season.

Notre Dame—Reserves who did not play against Purdue went through a scrimmage while the first stringers held a light workout in sweatsuits. The Irish suffered no serious injuries Saturday.

Shoe Box and Rubber Bands Produce Interesting Rhythm

BY CAPPY DICK

When today's fun project gadget, shown in Figure 1, is properly assembled it can be used to produce rhythmic sounds.

The device consists of a shoe box and some rubber bands. You dozen rubber bands of different thicknesses. Some should be thin, others wide but all of them should be big enough to be stretched around the box without bending the cardboard. Allow about one inch of space between the rubber bands so it will be easy to lift them with your finger tips.

Hold the box in your lap, or brace it between your knees. Then use the fingers of both hands to snap the rubber bands smartly against the box. The way to do this is shown in Figure 2. Lift several bands at the same time in each hand then let go of them one at a time but rapidly. As they smack against the box, each rubber will produce a noise.

The bigger and tougher a rubber band is and the farther you stretch it the louder the report it will make.

You will soon discover that it is very easy to keep time with radio and TV music.

Naval Reserve Sets Schedule For Interviews

Fox Cities Naval Reserve officers will be at the Fox Valley Center, University of Wisconsin, Wednesday and Thursday to interview area college students interested in the Navy's reserve officer candidate program.

Interviews will be held from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. both days in the lobby of the center.

The ROC program is one of five under which the Navy trains officer personnel. Male college freshmen, sophomores and juniors from 17 to 26 years old and in good academic standing are eligible.

Candidates remain in school until they receive a degree from a four-year college or university. Upon graduation they are commissioned an ensign in the Naval Reserve and serve on active duty for three years.

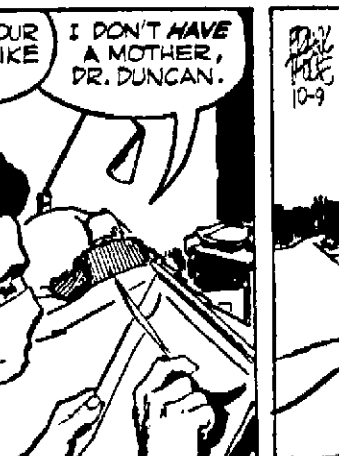

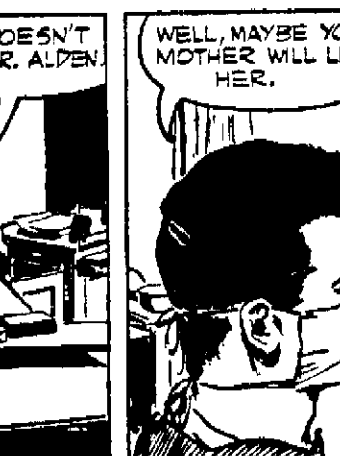

Officers of the Naval Reserve, act or result of being made will explain the ROC program great in power. The king sought and accept applications for an only the agrandement of him-self and his family."

'Blithe Spirit' Opening Show at State College

Oshkosh Players Choose Appropriate, Gay 'Spook' Drama for 3-Night Run

BY JINGO
Halloween will get a long run in Oshkosh this year. The Oshkosh State College drama department opens its season Nov. 1 with a three-day run of "Blithe Spirit."

As practically every cinema or theatergoer knows, "Blithe Spirit" is a spook show with mediums and materialized spirits. It also is a bonafide demonstration of the ultimate scripting skill of Noel Coward.

So Halloween will run through Nov. 3 this year. If there are any Trick 'n' Treaters reading, this does not mean there will be an open season on doorbells all that time. It only will work at the OSC Little Theater.

Jingo Gloria Link, the college's drama director, has announced an interesting three-production season which, in fact, will include five plays — three one-acters on the Dec. 13-15 bill.

Miss Link will turn the production of the three-acters over to students who will direct the actors and design the sets. The plays are not set as yet, but they're thinking of works of the caliber of Tennessee Williams, William Saroyan and Terrence Rattigan, pretty meaty stuff—usually.

Saroyan's one-acters are likely to be an especially sure bet of being mined. The California Kid in his full scale works was ahead of Powell Show tonight Tuesday his time, but his one-acters were so avant-garde back in the '30s that the stage hasn't caught up to him yet.

"Corn Is Green" It would be interesting for Tennessee Williams to be selected in the three, if for no other reason than to compare his work with another Williams scheduled for the March 7-9 production.

The spring offering will be the modern classic "The Corn Is Green." Of course the author of this piece is the fine actor, ran contour producer, author plays weight etc., etc., Emily Williams.

For the last two years, Williams of the Tennessee branch has been represented in the OSC playbill. Two years ago OSC did the Fox Cities a favor the value of which just recently became apparent.

The Williams work—his really fine show—was "The Glass Menagerie." The production may very well be the last time we will see it live for some Tennessee has withdrawn it from availability.

Jingo Skeptical His reason was announced as being based on his fear that it had been played to death Jingo not a current Williams fan, is skeptical.

"Glass Menagerie" is such a tender, sensitive play that it makes his other later, and especially current, work look brutal and sick in comparison.

Tennessee, taking "Glass Menagerie" of the boards isn't going to help. A sick man all by himself looks and acts just as sick as when he is compared with healthy men!

PET DOCTOR

By A. W. Moller, D.V.M.

Q I wish to know if there is any scientific proof that outdoor birds do or do not enjoy music. If birds do like music what particular kind? C.M. Jones, Sherburne, N.Y.

A In my opinion a lot of the so-called popular music is for the birds. But, birds would probably react as I do and fly in horror at the sound of rock and roll. Birds sing not to entertain us but to express their joy of living and to attract a mate. Birds do enjoy music but only if it resembles the song of birds. While we may love classical music, we must remember that what may sound beautiful to us may sound horrible to a bird. What I'm driving at is this: a bird might enjoy the sound of a flute, because it could resemble a bird's song but he's not going to flap his wings in time with the beat of a bongo drum or the crashing sounds of the 1812 Overture.

(Dr. Moller will send books on pet care to readers submitting best questions. Mail yours on a postcard in care of this paper.)

Tuesday Weld Stars for Dick Powell

BY TV SCOUT

8:30-9:30 (Channel 4-5)—There's a haunting story of a member of the beat generation on The Dick Powell Show tonight Tuesday Weld turns in a fine performance as a mixed-up kook running from—well, she's not quite sure. There is a mysterious stranger following her, and we never know until the end exactly who he is. She claims he's an agent of her racketeer stepfather. She eludes him and picks up Fabian, a basic ally decent boy, in a gambling joint and together they keep running mostly for the kick of it.

7-7:30 (Channel 2)—The Lloyd Bridges Show takes a chapter from "The Ugly American" as its source tonight. This tells the story of a splendid American, and Bridges plays him admirably. He's a typical unfeeling tourist in China until his compassion is stirred by the sight of a little girl dying of malnutrition.

7:30-8:30 (Channel 11)—The same old trouble heets Hawaiian Eye this year they start with a story which is basically sensible, then trick it out with elements which destroy its values. In this case, we have two willing and one unwilling teen-agers who steal Kim's cab. In the trunk is a valuable violin. The unwilling kid (Marc Romant) falls in love with the instrument and it stirs in him deep desires to make music.

7:30-8:30 (Channel 4-5)—Most of the action on Empire takes place off the stage. Garret ranch (Jim Redigo & Richard Egan), unable to cope with the pressures of his job quits to go back to the farm left him by his father. But he finds the place in the hands of a family which claims ownership. Chris Robinson and Joan Freeman are the son and daughter in the group. So Egan goes to work as a kind of undercover hired hand to figure out who's lying and who's (Color).

8:30-9:30 (Channel 11)—If Eliot Ness (Robert Stack) seems less human in The Untouchables it is because tonight's show "The Chess Game" was made last year as an extra. Richard Conte plays a blind Boston fish merchant who enjoys games like chess and bootlegging. When Ness, through some good detective work, discovers the set-up, Conte openly challenges him to figure out how he gets his bootleg champagne to Chicago.

9-10 (Channel 2)—Best part of The Gary Moore Show is a slightly overdone but still funny satire on The Defenders, with Moore and Dennis Weaver as the father son lawyer team. Bob Newhart chips in with a monologue about a man and his dog, and Barbara McNair is on hand to sing "All About Love."

9:30-10 (Channel 4-5)—The premiere of Chet Huntley Report, due last week was postponed because of the Mississippi crisis. So last week's show has been rescheduled tonight. This deals with the problem of Negro unemployment. It was filmed in Detroit, and its main thesis is that the Northern Negro has it as bad as the Southern Negro, at least from the standpoint of earning a living.

10:20-12 (Channel 4-5)—To

Minding Your Business

By Cyrus Barrett, Jr.

Emotionally Balanced Chefs Have Excellent Job Outlook

DEAR CY: (as you stated...second mortgage) All I know about being a chef is by banks are illegal. I have to be he is supposed to be temperate to abide by these policies, too. mental I am not that type at all, and think I should have an unusually good opportunity for holding down a good chef job. I of time I was just about to mail $40 to a gyp music publisher, when I spied your article. In all modesty I think I have written some good lyrics with music and would like to submit them to a reputable song publisher. Who might be interested in my work? Who can help me get my songs published?

DEAR PRITZKER: The chef, or boss cook, can earn anywhere from $5,000 to $15,000 annually. In some cases, chefs with international reputations are being taxed on incomes of $25,000 per year. Figure 15 or 20 years of dedicated effort to become a chef. The long range job outlook for emotionally balanced chefs is excellent.

DEAR CY: For nine years, we skimped and budgeted our money to build a top notch credit rating. Then the bank turned us down for the bank because our terms aren't just exactly what they demand. We want to borrow $5,000 to buy common stocks at depressed prices. We offered our boat as collateral, and they accept only if our payments are monthly. This is impossible for us to do since payments will come from my husband's overtime pay, which varies. We want the bank to take a second mortgage on our home, but they say no to that too. Three years of our married life lived in a trailer in order to save. Then we bought a modest home and furnished it room by room out of interest money. But, where are we now, when a bank won't honor a well-earned credit rating?

DEAR MRS. SCHELL: The foundations of any bank loan are suitable purpose and soundness of repayment source. There is an orderly market for automobiles, and most people will make car payments because they need the transportation. Even under adverse circumstances, an auto is usually accepted as collateral. As with other personal loans, a regular program for repaying the loan is called for. Overtime pay fluctuates too much to meet these conditions. And...

Board Plans Elementary Libraries

Central Units To be Built in Neenah Schools

NEENAH — Something new is being added in the Neenah Joint School District's elementary schools. By the end of this year, plans will have moved along to ward the objective set by the board of education and school administration to have a central library in each of the 12 elementary schools included in the district.

Directing the program is Mrs. Margaret Van Deusen, new elementary school librarian, who believes that "every boy and girl in school should be reached in the library program according to his or her individual needs."

"Unique"

When Mrs. Van Deusen came to the system this year, she inherited a library program which she terms, "unique." Each of the Neenah city schools was being serviced by the Neenah Public Library. "This is a switch," says the librarian. "The common practice is quite the reverse. Usually public libraries look to the schools to supplement their reading program for elementary school children."

"This new program is not being developed because of lack of cooperation from the public library here and this is a point which I wish to make perfectly clear. It is my hope that the cooperation between the two will continue and I will certainly encourage that every boy and girl continue their recreational reading in the public library."

Orders $5,000 Bonds On Burglary Charge

OSHKOSH — Bond of $5,000 was ordered for preliminary hearing Friday afternoon for Robert Hacker, 26, 829 Division St., Oshkosh, charged with the Aug. 14 burglary of Pinno's bar, 702 Oregon St.

The tavern was entered at about 2 a.m. that date and $358 was taken from the safe.

Hacker was arraigned before County Branch Three Judge James V. Sitter Monday afternoon.

Trading Slow On Wall Street

Stock Market Mills Unevenly; Gains, Losses Fractional

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued to mill unevenly in slow trading early this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .2 at 217.9 with industrials up .3, rails off .1, and utilities up 1.1.

Gains and losses of most key stocks were fractional. Only a scattering of more volatile issues moved a point or two, either way. Radio Corp. was up about a point. Zenith eased.

Amerasia (ex dividend) sank about 2 points.

Korvette added another fraction. Zeros and Polaroid eased. IBM added more than 2.

Some of the leading oils were firm to higher.

Aerospace issues did practically nothing. Motors were narrowly mixed. Tobaccos tended to soften.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off .21 at 585.88.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. government bonds declined slightly.

NEGLIGENCE by the busy executive

Many a business executive is under such pressure these days that he is inclined to neglect his personal investment needs. If this applies to you, our type of brokerage service can be of great value. Here's how:

1. One of our experienced account executives will study your requirements thoroughly and make your account of primary concern.
2. He'll be available during all market hours to supply the latest information or to render an opinion regarding your investments.
3. Thomson & McKinnon Investment Reports, Special Reviews and Investment Surveys will help you keep abreast of the latest developments.

Does this mean that you'll be "pestered"? Not at all! It simply means you'll get all the service you ask for.

Republicans Forced to Drop Campaign Plan

John W. Byrnes
Assails Democratic Leaders for 'Plot'

BY FRANCES MCKUSICK
Post-Crescent Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON — Failure of the Democratic leadership to adjourn congress last weekend as planned was blasted by Rep John W. Byrnes. (R. Green Bay)

Among the appointments Rep. Byrnes was forced to cancel because congress remained in session were appearances before the Appleton High School Young Republican Club this afternoon and a public speech at the Kaukauna Civic auditorium tonight.

as being "so unexplainable that it almost appears to be a plot to prevent a Republican congressional campaign this year."

St. John High School Plans For Homecoming Underway

LITTLE CHUTE — Plans have been held during activity period Friday for homecoming day and the parade will be held on the school parking lot at 7:30 p.m. with the parade scheduled to get underway at 8 p.m.

Freshmen students were class colors to school Monday and sophomores and juniors will erect homecoming signs and posters around school Tuesday and Wednesday. Senior day will be Thursday at which time seniors will have a dinner. School and homecoming assembly will be held at 1 p.m.

Byrnes expressed concern over the necessity of cancelling out his campaign commitments for next week, including appearances in Manitowish Waters, Appleton, Kaukauna, Green Bay and Kewaunee.

"A great number of people have worked unselfishly to make the arrangements for my campaign appearances in the district next week. Those commitments were made in good faith in the expectation that adjournment target dates would be met. It is disappointing to be forced to cancel out, and every effort will be made to re-schedule commitments, where possible in the two or three campaign weeks which will remain if Congress does adjourn next week," he concluded.

Two Cars Damaged
In Waupaca Crash

WAUPACA — Two cars were damaged in an accident about 4:30 p.m. Friday on Badger Street, city police reported. A car driven by Emil Laszewski, 57, Plover, hit the rear of a car driven by Leo F. Gohl, 55, or three campaign weeks which will remain if Congress does adjourn next week," he concluded.

Help Is Sought

Red China Faced With Food Crisis

ROME (AP) — Hungry China was forced to turn again to the world markets to buy food, did not mention any purchases from Soviet Russia but FAO sources said Russia has sent China nothing because Peiping has nothing to pay in return.

Purchases Made

World agricultural trade would have shown a decline in the past year except for China's big purchases of grain, mainly from Canada and Australia, and the Chinese and Russian purchases of 5.7 million tons of sugar to help keep out farm tools and fertilizers. Castro's Cuba off the rocks.

Population Shifted

Additional urban population is year except for China's big purchases of grain, mainly from Canada and Australia, and the Chinese and Russian purchases of 5.7 million tons of sugar to help keep out farm tools and fertilizers. Castro's Cuba off the rocks.

Two GOP Candidates To Speak in Tigerton

TIGERTON — Two Republican candidates will appear in this vicinity, Wednesday morning.

stantial deliveries have also been agreed upon for the following years.

"The reduction by more than half in China's rice exports to destinations other than the U.S.-S.R. affected markets elsewhere, mainly through higher prices, as exportable surpluses in most other countries also were smaller than in 1960.

"The rise in the sino-Soviet areas sugar exports from Cuba continued in 1961. Altogether the U.S.S.R., mainland China and eastern Europe purchased in 1961 some 57 million tons, thus becoming the world's largest sugar importing region.

"This compares with gross imports of about 25 million tons in 1960, the first year when trade in sugar was affected by the breach between Cuba and the United States, and an average of about 500,000 tons in the preceding years."

Two GOP Candidates To Speak in Tigerton

TIGERTON — Two Republican candidates will appear in this vicinity, Wednesday morning.

6 Persons Apply For Position as Works Director

Six persons have indicated interest in applying for the position of Appleton public works director.

Mayor Clarence Mitchell said today he expects more applications for the job during the next few weeks. The city is advertising in national trade journals that the position is to be filled.

The State Bureau of Personnel will cooperate in the selection of a new public works director. Mayor Mitchell will make the appointment, subject to common council ratification.

The job has a monthly pay range from $800 to $960. Henry Crowe is acting works director, succeeding Edwin Duszynski who accepted a similar position at Madison on Oct. 1.

Introducing;
Roland E. Pruno

ON THE JOB . . .

Machinist Pruno is as necessary to the smooth operations of the Post-Crescent plant as is a mechanic to an automobile. With the volume and variety of mechanical equipment within the Post-Crescent building, Roland has scarcely a moment when he is not busy.

Pruno keeps a daily check on the composing room equipment, maintaining and repairing the linotypes, typesetter operating units and punchers, teletype reperforators. In addition, he is "on call" for servicing the teletype and typesetter units maintained in the Post-Crescent offices in Neenah and in Oshkosh. He also services the Associated Press teletype news machines and reperforators in the editorial news and sports departments.

Naturally, Roland's mechanical ability makes him available for much "odd job" repair work around the newspaper plant.

IN THE COMMUNITY . . .

- Roland E. Pruno is one of those varieties who live, laugh and love in the city of their birth: he was born and raised in Appleton.
- Roland's wife is the former Bette West who hails from Hilo, Hawaii, and the couple has three lovely children: Sandra, Christopher and Roland, Jr. They are students at Foster School and will probably follow the educational steps of their father who is a graduate of Appleton Senior High School.
- Composing room duties are rather confining and Roland contrasts his outside activities by tempering his love of the outdoors with emphasis on boating and fishing.
- A member, with his family, of the Riverview Evangelical Lutheran Church, Roland Pruno is a member of the Men's Club and active in the American Legion.

The true "Image" of a Company is its employees . . . people who contribute good work on the job and make an equal contribution to their community. The majority of our employees own their homes; pay taxes, buy merchandise, attend Church, send their children to school and take active part in civic affairs.

When you think of the Post-Crescent, think of it as people . . . who are your friends and neighbors!
